Convention Cheers Blast at 'Disunity' Among Unions With A. F. of L.

(By Associated Press)

PITTSBURGH — The CIO convention today adopted its "peace" committee's report which did not recommend any new steps to heal the breach with the American Federation of Labor.

The delegates adopted the report unanimously by a standing vote just before adjourning for lunch.

The report asserted there could be no compromise with the CIO's "obligation to fully protect the rights and interests of all its members and affiliated organizations."

Commends Leaders.

It declared the CIO had initiated the move for a unified labor movement and commended CIO leaders for their "sincere efforts" in attempting to solve the unity problem "without destroying the gains which have been made or damaging the principle of industrial organization."

The committee's report, formulated in conference last night, followed President Roosevelt's appeal yesterday for peace between the John L. Lewis union and the AFL.

After reading the report of the committee, Philip Murray, vice chairman of the convention, said that would be the final one on the peace subject. He added that all resolutions on the subject had been submitted to the committee.

The report, an eight-page document, recited the history of the conferences between the CIO and the AFL which began Oct. 25, 1937, in Washington and broke up in disagreement less than two months later.

Columbus Mother Saves 4 Children, Husband In Blaze

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The bravery and quick-thinking of a 23-year-old mother of five children—the youngest only three days old—saved her family from possible death in a fire-swept home last night.

William McGlone, 30, a WPA laborer, was starting a fire in the kitchen stove to prepare an evening meal Four children played in the next room. Mrs. McGlone was in a bedroom with her new son.

There was an explosion as the gasoline stove was ignited. Flame sprayed over McGlone and two rooms. His clothing blazing, the husband raced into the bedroom.

Mrs. McGlone leaped from her bed, grapped blankets, smothered the flames, then smashed a window and shoved her husband from the house. Then, aided by a neighbor woman who was visiting her, she pushed four older children to safety. Then she returned to her bed, wrapped her three-day-old baby son, and was helped out the window by neighbors.

McGlone suffered critical burns and lacerations, and two children were burned slightly.

Turns Down Court Plan to Hire Copper

Board Says County Has No Funds to Employ Juvenile Officer.

County commissioners today turned down a request of Probate Judge C. J. Anderson for funds to make Harry Copper, former member of the Mansfield police force, a special juvenile officer in Judge Anderson's court.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, told Judge Anderson that "no more money will be available this year, and we are not prepared to make any promises for next year."

The 1938 budget was set up last winter and there are no surplus funds available for additional appropriations for the probate court, commissioners pointed out.

Describing Copper as "one of the best juvenile officers I have ever worked with," Judge Anderson said he believed the former city patrolman would be of considerable help in curbing the growing juvenile problem in Mansfield.

Planned Temporary Job.

Judge Anderson said he asked the commissioners for no specific amount, merely inquiring if any money would be available for another officer in his juvenile department. He said he considered the possible appointment as "only temporary, or until Copper can get something better."

Copper worked with juveniles in cooperation with Judge Anderson's court before he resigned as a policeman last April to go to the home of relatives in southern Ohio for a 60-day rest period, ordered by Judge Anderson.

His resignation followed a domestic altercation on Easter Sunday when Copper allegedly fired a gun at his wife Cited in probate court, Copper was examined by three physicians who said he was "mentally ill." They attributted his act to a nervous condition, possibly induced by too much concentration on juvenile work.

During his dine years as a member of the Mansfield police department, Copper was actively interested in juvenile work. He is the father of four children.

Since his return to Mansfield from southern Ohio last summer, he has operated a poultry and produce business.

Judge Anderson said he understood a movement would be launched soon to have Copper reinstated as a policeman. He added that he believed the former patrolman had "completely recovered from his nervous ailment."

Bromfield Anxious to Get Back to Mansfield --- It's Still 'Home'

Homesick for Land of His Birth, He's Eager to See Old Friends.

By JANE WILLIAMS

WHEN Louis Bromfield slips quietly into Mansfield tomorrow or Thursday after 13 years of voluntary exile in France, he will not come as a conquering hero of the literary world but as the small-town boy homesick for the land of his people and his own boyhood.

He doesn't want a brass band nor an official reception when he comes to town with Hawkins, his secretary; he just wants to climb the stairs of the newspaper office and say "Hi, there, George!" to George Kochenderfer, his first editor, and "Hello, Heinie" to Henry G. Brunner, his old boss of the Shield and Banner days— if he can find Brunner. He wants to call on old friends and see again the places which he has made world-famous in his novels.

* * *

Yesterday afternoon I went up the walk to an old white New England house in Oberlin (along with Cleveland reporters and cameramen), waded through trunks with foreign labels, was ushered into the long living room by Hawkins and there was greeted by the six-foot author whose books have been translated into practically every language.

A Mansfielder would have known him instantly; despite the fact that the gangly, long-legged boy who left here more than 20 years ago is now a fat, lucky chap who probably tips the scales at 180 or more. But he still looks and talks more like a middle-western newspaper man than the cosmopolite who is equally at home in London or Paris or Calcutta and who lunches with the sister-in-law of Premier Neville Chamberlain one week and with Jim Farley the next.

Reunion in Oberlin—Louis Bromfield, famous Mansfield-born author, as he joined his family there yesterday after 13 years in the east and abroad. Bromfield and his wife are shown seated. Behind them, left to right, two of their three daughters, Hope, 11, and Anne, 14. Ellen, 6, is ill with a cold.

The post at issue, he said, was that of attorney general, now held by Homer S. Cummings. It was expected that his successor would be Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson.

The United Press informant, one of the president's closest advisers who asked that his name not be used, said that a shake-up in the cabinet was impending. However, only the one change is contemplated at present, he said.

He emphasized that reports of

Opening Day Crowd Sets Record at Cooking School

More Than 1,000 Women and a Few Men Attend First of Four Sessions at Ohio Theater.

If there was any doubt as to whether a second News-Journal cooking school the same year is desirable, it was dispelled this morning when the largest crowd ever to attend a first day's session greeted Miss Ruth Chambers, lecturer, and her assistant, Miss Elizabeth Rucker, at the Ohio theater.

More than 1,000 women—with a few men scattered through the audience—almost filled the lower floor of the theater.

Before the two dieticians and food experts were introduced, Mrs. Elsie Ireland, well known Mansfield pianist and organist, played several numbers on the Hardman Minipiano, which is being displayed on the stage this week.

Get Recipe Booklets.

Every person who attended the school was given a recipe booklet containing not only the dishes prepared during the session, but a number of others.

Among the interesting dishes which Miss Chambers demonstrated today was a stuffed baked ham from which the bone had been removed and the cavity filled with chopped spinach and onion; bananas rolled in thin slices of boiled ham and baked; curried peaches and mushroom ham loaf.

Miss Pauline Schofield, home economist for the Ohio Fuel Gas company, assisted at the school today. New recipes will be used each day The other sessions will be on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, starting at 9 and ending at 11:30 a. m. The entire school is free to housewives of Mansfield and vicinity.

Gov. Martin L. Davey had stated that he ordered the division engineers to resign or be fired, because of their activity in behalf of Charles Sawyer, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor.

Ault said he expected to name new division engineers later in the week.

Run Little Bunny, Run... Crack Shots And Bum Shots Are Out in Full Force

Watch the Papers—You Won't Be the Only Victims of Hunt.

A warning to our friends in the woods and fields:

Run little bunny; fly away colored bird;
'Twas the army of hunters, that "bang-bang" you heard.

Yes, sir, Mr. Bunny, from all reports there will be more than a half million hunters roaming Ohio's countryside this week.

If all of them get their legal limit of four, your death rate will be something like 2,000,000 a day. Those are staggering figures, bunny, but it's your debt to sportsmanship. You might find some consolation in the thought that if there was no conservation division to put a limit on your destruction, you'd soon be a forgotten race.

Of course, not all hunters get their legal limit of four rabbits a day. Some of them are bum shots. And some of you bunnies are just too darned clever.

If you could read the papers the next few days, you probably would take fiendish delight in learning that you aren't the only victims of the hunt. You would find that quite a few hunters are victims of their own or somebody else's carelessness with guns.

Yes, indeed, bunny, it gives one a feeling of security to stay in the city these November days. About the only guns we see are in store windows. Why don't you give up your country place and move to town?

Your friend, Mr. Pheasant, is more fortunate than you. The legal limit on his relatives is two a day and no females. The Hungarian partridge limit is four a day.

But cheer up, bunny, the war can last only from Nov. 15 to Nov. 30 under Ohio law. Then you can enter a 50-week reconstruction period.

FREE WITHIN TEN YEARS OR DEAD IN FIVE?

Irwin Pleads Guilty, Throws Court Into Uproar; Says He Won't Stay In Pen.

BUT DISEASE DOOMS HIM

'Mad Sculptor' Who Murdered 3, Screams Like Maniac, Bargains For Life.

(Picture on Page 2)

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Robert Irwin, whose disease-warped mind ranged from creation of promising sculptures and an ambition for the ministry to a maniacally twisted jealousy in which he killed three persons, faced today a lifetime in prison.

He boasted he would be free within 10 years.

Psychiatrists predicted, instead, that he would be dead within five, a victim of tuberculosis.

The 31-year-old sculptor-slayer bargained protestingly yesterday to escape the electric chair.

Creates Uproar.

He finally pleaded guilty to second degree murder after creating a court room scene, alternately enacting a screaming maniac, and a crafty pleader against injustice.

A pair of old pants he abandoned with luggage in the Grand Central station when he fled the Easter, 1937, triple slaying on Beekman Hill, figured in the bargaining.

He obtained a promise from Assistant District Attorney Jacob Rosenblum that his trousers would be returned if he pleaded guilty.

Killed Model, Mother, Boarder.

Irwin stabbed and bludgeoned Veronica Gedeon, photographers' model; her mother, and a boarder, Frank Byrnes, in the Gedeon apartment.

With hatred in his eyes, he called the prosecution staff "professional liars" and screamed at his guards: "How abominably you treated me! You dirty dogs!"

He concluded his colloquy with the judge by saying: "I prophesy to you that before 10 years I will be out."

The guilty plea was offered before a jury to try him for first degree murder had been completed. He will be sentenced Nov. 28.

His attorney, Samuel Leibowitz, said Irwin was suffering from syphilis in its most virulent form, had had the disease since he was 9, and said doctors had said he would develop dementia praecox and then tuberculosis and would be dead within five years.

TRIAL RECESSED

Case Involving O.S.R. Inmate Delayed Until Tomorrow.

A recess until 9 a. m. Wednesday was called late yesterday in the trial of a suit in which the Mercer Casualty company of Celina seeks to escape liability in damage actions totaling $375,000 resulting from an automobile accident in Jefferson county.

Recess of the trial, which is being held in Richland county common pleas court because Russell Plunkett, one of the defendants, is a prisoner in the Mansfield reformatory, was ordered by Judge C. H. Huston to permit two of the 12 attorneys in the case to go to Columbus for a supreme court hearing.

The damage actions were filed in Jefferson county after five persons were killed in a crash in which a car driven by Plunkett was involved. He was sentenced to the reformatory for manslaughter following the accident.

SEE PROTEST IN ENVOY'S RECALL

Observers Believe Order to U. S. Ambassador Retort to Nazi Drive on Jews.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—A sudden order calling the American envoy to Berlin home for "report and consultation" gave the world today a clear hint that the United States government disapproves of Germany's treatment of Jews.

Officials said the instructions for Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson to come to Washington were in no sense an interruption of diplomatic relations. They added, however, that the step was one taken only in important cases.

Wilson, who has been in Berlin less than a year, will leave for London Sunday. He will report to President Roosevelt not only on the Jewish situation but also on all problems affecting American relations with the Hitler regime.

Shortly after the announcement of his return was made last night, Senator King (D-Utah) proposed that the United States sever diplomatic relations with Germany if Nazis continue their abuse of Jews.

King spoke on a nationwide radio (CBS) symposium in which Secretary Ickes, Herbert Hoover, Alfred M. Landon and religious leaders protested against anti-Semitic measures in the Reich.

"No nation can live unto itself

German Press Fires Blast; U. S. Envoy Ready to Leave Tomorrow.

(By United Press)

BERLIN — The German press sternly warned the United States against continued expressions of indignation on the Jewish question today while Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson prepared to leave Berlin for home.

Instructions to return to Washington reached the ambassador this morning, it was learned. His immediate return had been unexpected. The orders superseded previous plans to return at a later, but undetermined date.

Leaves Tomorrow.

Wilson arranged to leave quickly. He will leave for Paris tomorrow night and will sail from Le Havre aboard the S. S Manhattan Thursday afternoon, arriving in New York Thanksgiving day.

Ghetto-like measures were being formulated in Nazi government bureaus. Panic-stricken Jews in increasing numbers besieged the American and other foreign consulates.

Reliable sources estimated today that fifty thousand Jews have been arrested throughout the reich in the last few days. Of that number, 7,000 to 8,000 were estimated to have been seized in Berlin.

Many of those arrested are influential or wealthy Jews held as hostages.

As Wilson prepared to leave for Paris tomorrow night for Washington, the press sternly warned America that agitation against Nazism would be reflected in further ill-treatment of Jews here.

'Thousand Eyes for One.'

The newspaper Schwarze Korps, organ of the elite S S Guards, declared that "we shall use Jewish hostages systematically no matter how shocking some people may find it." The paper went on to declare that using the Jewish principle of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" the Nazis will take a thousand eyes and a thousand teeth for every German eye or tooth.

Despite repercussions on the German Bourse it was indicated there would be no recession in the drive which has swept the Jews from the financial, business and cultural life of Germany.

In the face of this Nazi stand despite world-wide protest, foreign diplomatic circles expressed

NEW YORK: Jewish Oppression Brings German Boycott Threat

NEW YORK—(UP)—Mass meetings, boycotts and relief funds were being organized today to protest the anti-Semitic campaign in Germany and to aid its victims.

Former President Herbert Hoover, Alfred M. Landon, Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes, Sen. William H King of Utah, Bishop Edwin H. Hughes of the Methodist Episcopal church and Rev. Robert I. Gannon, president of Fordham university, denounced the persecutions in a nationwide radio broadcast last night. They called the oppression "crimes against civilization."

The national conference of Jews and Christians called a mass meeting at the White Plains, N. Y., high school tonight to discuss the Nazi persecutions.

The joint boycott committee of the American Jewish congress called for a special boycott on German goods for the week of Nov. 27-Dec. 4.

The National Dress Manufacturers association urged its members to donate clothing for resale, the proceeds to go to Jewish relief organizations.

Rep. Vito Marcantonio, president of the International Labor Defense, asked his 300,000 followers to join other groups in urging the United States government to protest to Germany.

In Washington, Sen William E. Borah (R., Ida), ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee, said he would support a resolution protesting German treatment of Jews, but declined to discuss withdrawal of diplomatic recognition of the reich.

LONDON: Joint U. S., British Protest To Germany Considered

LONDON—(UP)—The departure from Berlin of United States Ambassador Hugh Wilson was interpreted today as "a recall" which increased the possibility of the British government seeking to arrange a joint Anglo-American protest to Germany.

The Daily Mail said it understood that America and Britain were consulting on a plan to be submitted to Germany to establish emigrant Jews in some sparsely populated area of the world. The plan called for financial aid, the Daily Mail said.

It was learned that the British government already had under investigation the possibility of settling Jews and other refugees on the African continent in northern Rhodesia and Kenya. A majority of the British dominions have refused to absorb large numbers of Jews.

Meanwhile observers interpreted Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's statements in commons as representing a determination to reach an understanding with Adolf Hitler despite the anti-Semitic drive in Germany.

During the cross-fire of questions, the prime minister carefully avoided direct condemnation of anti-Jewish measures, but said that Britain was watching the interests of British Jews in Germany.

TVA Officials Deny Power Program's 'Socialistic'

GIVE REPORT ON OPERATIONS TO COMMITTEE

Directors Deny Attempts to Control Living Conditions Of Valley's Residents.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Five officials of the Tennessee Valley Authority defended the vast operations of that agency today in reports to a congressional committee.

Their reports outlined in detail the ramifications of the New Deal's power and regional planning agency. They denied that any attempt was being made "to superimpose an inflexible physical plan on the valley, to circumscribe a field of economic activity, or to regulate in any manner the lives of the valley's residents.

Resumes Hearings.

The reports were released as the joint committee, appointed by the last congress to study all phases of the TVA, resumed hearings here. It has been in recess since early fall after summer hearings in Knoxville, Tenn., TVA headquarters.

Reports of heads of five TVA departments were submitted for the record by Committee Counsel Francis Biddle. They were prepared by C. H. Garity, materials department; John F. Pierce, office service division; W. L. Sturdevant, information division; L. N. Allen, reservoir property management, and Earle S. Draper, regional planning studies department.

Denying that the TVA sought to impose "a plan" on the valley, and replying to critics' charges that the development was "socialistic," Draper said:

"Our work is directed toward providing an improved and broader resource base on which the region can itself meet its major problems."

Allen said that "it is not the intention of the authority to undertake to regulate in any manner the lives of the residents of the various villages and camps."

"On the contrary," he continued, "it attempts to bring about a wholesome and normal community atmosphere, free from influences traditionally attributed to so-called 'company towns,' and to foster a friendly community spirit."

He reported that the authority loans facilities for holding religious worship, but constructs no churches because it maintains impartiality in religious affairs.

The scope of TVA in activities not directly connected with power development was revealed as development of towns, villages and camps; maintenance and management of cafeterias, dormitories, drugstores, other stores, libraries, recreational facilities, all types of municipal services including fire and police protection, water, light and sewage, and maintenance of roads and schools.

Lake Ships Fight Choppy Seas With Season's End Near

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Great Lakes freighters battled choppy seas toward their destinations today, making the fastest possible speed to escape menacing season-end storms.

November's traditional bad weather hampered lake traffic generally during the past two days.

The U. S. Coast Guard cutter Tahoma went to the aid of the 215-foot Oil Transfer Thirty 11 miles northwest of Cleveland yesterday. The craft was separated from its towboat Otco after the line snapped and became fouled in the tug's propeller. The Otco put into harbor as the Tahoma towed in the carrier.

Its cargo of steel shifted by heavy seas, the small steel and scrap carrier Marita was forced to turn back into Cleveland harbor.

The steamer Fontana reached Sandusky safely after stormy waves forced the boat to remain throughout yesterday in the lee of Kellys Island.

Fifty-mile winds moderated to 32 miles an hour in the upper lakes.

No one in Mansfield witnessed the screening of "Stablemates" with any more interest than John Bishop, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bishop, 39 Arlington avenue. John was in California last summer when the picture was being made and watched Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney making scenes at Redonda Beach. He approached the stars and asked for autographs. They not only gave them but Beery demonstrated how he writes his autograph upside down and makes it read the same from both directions.

Architect Louis Lamoreaux had some uncomfortable moments the other night when he was stranded on top the unfinished field house at the Galion high school stadium. Unable to find a seat in the packed stands at the game he did the next best thing—climbed on top the building. When officials cleared others from these "box seats," he stayed. They retaliated by taking away the ladder. When the game was over Lamoreaux found he was stranded. The ladder was gone and it was too high to jump. Besides it was plenty cold. It was not until he attracted the attention of friends that his plight was made known and he was "rescued."

Dever Timmons of Coshocton, considered one of the world's leading photographers, will speak at a meeting of the Mansfield Photographic society at 8 p. m. Thursday in the Armory.

Timmons will illustrate his lecture with about 50 of his prize-winning prints which have been reproduced in newspapers and magazines throughout the world.

Photographs made by Timmons have been shown in the Lauvre, Paris; the Chicago Art Institute, the Tokyo Art museum, Japan; and a number of other galleries throughout Europe. In a two-year period ending July 1, 1937, he had 702 prints accepted in 114 American and foreign competitive salons.

Timmons has been elected as a Fellow in the Royal Society of Artists and an Associate of the Royal Photographic Society, British honorary organizations for photographers.

Asserting that the "best picture material is nearest home," Timmons has used Coshocton residents and scenes as the subjects for many of his pictures.

He is in demand as a salon judge and has judged pictures at the Metropolitan International in New York, the Buffalo International and salons sponsored by the Photographic Society of America.

Photography is an avocation with Timmons, although he has competed with the foremost amateur and professional photographers in gaining his fame. He has been listed in "Who's Who in Photography" for the past two years.

In every-day life, he is secretary-treasurer of the Buckeye Fabric Finishing company, Coshocton.

PREDICT SCHORR WILL GET STATE COMMERCE POST

Observers See Squire, State Banking Head, Among Few Hold-Over Officials.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Staunch Republicans, those who have stuck with the GOP through lean years, are going to be rewarded with appointments to key posts in the state government after Jan. 9, 1939, sources close to Governor-Elect John W. Bricker revealed today.

Prominently mentioned as new heads of state departments when the Democratic administration of Governor Davey is officially retired were such Republican stalwarts as Ed D. Schorr, chairman of the Republican state executive committee; Hugh Huntington, Thomas Bateman, C. C. Crabbe, former attorney general, and others.

Schorr was believed to have the inside track for the director of commerce post, now held by Alfred A. Benesch, of Cleveland.

Schorr was commerce director in the administration of former Gov. Myers Y. Cooper.

Mentioned as Secretary.

Robert Barton, a law partner of Bricker and president of the young Republican league of Ohio, has been mentioned as the governor-elect's executive secretary, a post which Daniel S. Earhart now holds under Davey and which John Caren held during most of Davey's regime.

Don Power, a former assistant attorney general when Bricker was attorney general, and also a partner in Bricker's law firm, was said to be slated for a vacancy on the utilities commission. He also has been mentioned for director of commerce.

Next in line, it was understood, is Crabbe, attorney general from 1923 to 1927. Bateman's name has been mentioned in the appointment talk, possibly as director of agriculture, while Huntington and Paul Selby, special counsel in the Columbia building and loan adjustment case, are being considered for superintendent of banks or superintendent of buildings and loans.

The excellent record of Samuel H. Squire, Elyria, as head of the banking department, may result in his holding over under Bricker, some observers believe, William Kroeger has been superintendent of buildings and loans under Davey.

FIRE IN LUCAS

Restaurant Damage In Early Morning Blaze $500.

LUCAS—A fire which threatened a business block in downtown Lucas resulted in damages estimated at $500 to the Rainbow Gardens restaurant at 1 a. m. today.

The fire was discovered underneath the bar shortly after the close of the restaurant, and nearly all of the damage was confined to fixtures. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

Prompt response by the volunteer fire department prevented the blaze from spreading to adjacent buildings. It was the first call answered by the department since it was organized three years ago. It was also the first serious fire in Lucas in five years.

Forest Keister is the operator of the business place and the building is owned by the Harris estate.

FAIR ENOUGH!

A. M. A. Justification In Philadelphia Case Not Borne Out By the Facts

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—Nobody appreciates the doctor's service to mankind more than your correspondent, but this essay will admit that the defense of the profession in the case of the Philadelphia woman who bore a baby unattended after several doctors had declined to assist sounds more like a plea of guilty than vindication.

Several professional bleeding hearts broke down and bawled over the tragedy of this rather celebrated mishap, not in honest sympathy for the unfortunate woman and the bairn, but in propaganda for collective medicine. The American Medical association investigated, and now presents its own account of the case with a note of satisfaction which is not justified by the facts.

The account says: "Sunday morning, Oct. 22, at 7 o'clock, the patient was delivered of a six or seven-month still-birth at a rooming house to which she went only about an hour before. Her home address is not known and she was in labor on arrival at the rooming house.

"She had previously been taken to two hospitals by a roomer and had been examined and refused admission because she was not registered in either as a patient. One of the roomers called the sergeant at the police station, who failed to call the district physician because he said he did not wish to disturb him on Sunday.

"The roomer then tried to reach five different doctors in the neighborhood. The first was taking a bath, and when he answered the doorbell no one was there. He reported that he had not taken care of an obstetrics case in 30 years.

* * *

"The second doctor, a specialist in diseases of the eye, was asleep and did not answer the doorbell. The third does not practice obstetrics, but offered to send an ambulance. This offer was refused.

"The sergeant telephoned a hospital, and the assistant chief resident offered to call on the woman if the police would send a car. On his arrival he found the patient and the dead infant. He administered treatment and left instructions to call the hospital if further treatment was necessary.

"The patient refused to answer questions, made no statements and disappeared one week later. It appears that there are 10 hospitals within a distance of from three blocks to one and one-half miles from the place in which this delivery occurred."

On the face of this account it is necessary to exonerate the so-called district physician and pass the buck to the sergeant. The next man, the one who was taking a bath, vindicates himself easily, but the stipulation that he hadn't taken an obstetrics case in 30 years indicates a false attitude. What difference would that make? Kid internes handle such tasks and even policemen have been known to meet emergencies of this kind in New York.

* * *

A doctor is a doctor, and a preference for localized practice would not impress laymen as an excuse for refusal of emergency help to a stricken human being. The next also "does not practice obstetrics," a fact which may be ignored as of no value, but he was asleep, and apparently sleeps very soundly.

The one who offered to send the ambulance doesn't take advantage of the opportunity to do himself justice. He doesn't explain why, in this critical moment, he didn't go himself.

People do impose heartlessly on doctors. This woman had an obligation to makes inquiries and arrangements months before. While she was having this wretched experience, a lot of habitual indigents far and wide in this country were calling out ambulance doctors to treat them for drunkenness, wakefulness, worry and itch.

But the journal of the A. M. A. hasn't exonerated the profession in this case. By the journal's own account it was a miserable incident, with strong indications of heartlessness at the two hospitals, where a mere paper-work formality excluded a desperate, penniless person.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Just the way you and I love a parade, Victor McLaglen must dote on uniforms.

Vic won't admit it. He even denies it. He says he had enough of uniforms during the war. And he surely should have had enough of uniforms in pictures. In pictures, he's been the not-so-bright captain so consistently that he doesn't look natural in civvies. Oh, yes, he's tired of uniforms.

Just the same, when Vic gets at the head of his lighthorse troop, his big chest sticking out under the uniform and his head "rared" back, you can tell it's not just the horse that's strutting.

* * *

So Vic, at lunch, was telling about a friend of his, a retired officer in the Scottish Guards, who is organizing a Scotch-Irish troop to join the McLaglen forces. The new unit's uniform will be kilties.

"And won't that be a sight to see?" asked Vic, beaming all over that prodigious pan.

We got to talking about uniforms and what makes them popular, and Vic had the explanation at hand:

"Oh, you know how it is. These old army birds—they get used to it—and they're not happy unless they can put on a uniform and strut."

And I'm sure the big bruiser didn't see anything funny in that, coming from him!

McLaglen has just finished "Gunga Din" and now he's in naval uniform for "Pacific Liner." Then he's going over to Hal Roach's place to make "Captain Midnight," which sounds like another uniform, but, he says, it isn't.

This McLaglen is a physical specimen to top most others in Hollywood. Like the lady in the ads, he's over 40. In fact, if you inquire, you'll find he's over 51, not quite 52. And tough as nails. How does he stay that way?

"Sports, just sports," he says.

That's the why, he says, of his pet hobby—the McLaglen lighthorse troop. He sank $150,000 into the grounds, stables and clubhouse of his organization, which by now has taken on some aspects of a circus. It puts on shows, periodically, with its fancy riding, its trick motorcycle riders, its drills, its amateur sports teams which include a women's water polo outfit.

* * *

The organization isn't costing him anything now, and he owns the property—except for that little section the Los Angeles river purloined in last spring's floods. Latest sport he's fostering is rugby.

His other hobby—the expensive one — is his magnificent estate in the foothills. Here he has a beautiful English-type home surrounded by lawns and gardens, swimming pool, and a small zoo. The estate's facilties include a smoke-room for curing hams, which is a fine thing for an academy-award winner to have handy.

Vic keeps on making pictures, after 16 years of Hollywood stardom, because he likes it. Won't quit, he says, until he's kicked out. But here's an amazing thing: McLaglen can dish it out but he can't take it. He shies away from seeing his pictures, his previews, his daily "rushes." If he saw them, he says, he'd get so sick of himself he'd have to quit making pictures.

CLERK KILLED IN 19-STORY FALL

Cincinnati Man Plunges to Death From Skyscraper.

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Clifford J. Taylor, 55, rail clerk, leaped 19 floors to his death from a physician's office in a downtown skyscraper today, his body landing in the middle of Fourth street near its intersection with Vine street—one of the city's busiest corners.

Mrs. Dorothy Daugherty, physician's attendant, said she saw Taylor just as he crawled upon a window-ledge.

"Look for the note, it's in my coat-pocket," she quoted him as saying.

The note read:

"I can't sleep, eat or hardly walk. I hate to do this, but it's the only way out."

The guest told of the patterns, the beauty and the value of the rugs, explaining that each is named for the town in which it is made. The making of oriental rugs is the principal industry of Persia. Here rugs are made in the homes, and each one is different.

Although beautiful rugs are made in a number of other countries, the best and the most lasting come from Persia because the secret of two dyes used in the rugs is kept there, and handed down from father to son.

Man of 40 Wants To Meet Girls

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

Every day I read your column in the hope I can find out what is wrong with me. I'm a bachelor 40 years old, and my theme song should be:

"I can't get the ones I want
And I don't want the ones I can get."

I have a nice little home I'm paying on, a good car, a steady job. The women I meet all seem to be around 35 or 40 years of age. They've been married or divorced, have children—and most of them are fat.

Why can't I meet one of those cute little tricks with a pretty face and a figure like Venus? I see them every day, on the streets, in the theater, in the hotel, looking lovely in evening gowns. But I never meet them.

The divorcees and widows do their own proposing, when they find out I'm comfortably off. They would probably make good wives, but I don't want them. I want something young and lovely that I can worship. Maybe I'm just another old fool. I know I'm no Clark Gable or Robert Taylor, but I'm tender, affectionate and thoughtful, and these older gals fall heavily for me.

But I want something young to love. It makes me sick because I have no opportunity of meeting them.

STILL HOPEFUL.

When a man is looking for peaches, the sensible thing is to go to a peach-tree, not a crab-apple orchard. And at 40, you shouldn't find it so difficult, considering all your worldly advantages, to find a peach.

In the city from which you write me, there is a splendid hiking club, the only requisite for membership being good character. Why not join, and see what the fates have in store for you? The Y. M. C. A. is always safe, and they give dances and wienie roasts, to which girls are welcome guests.

Ask some of your business associates to introduce you to their sisters, their cousins and their friends. Tell the wife of some congenial business associate that you want to give a little party, and ask her to pick out three or four attractive girl friends. You and the lady's husband will be two males, and the lady can invite two more, being sure that she leaves out Clark Gable, Robert Taylor, or gentlemen that match them in appearance.

Make yourself agreeable. Make a date with some of these girls for the movies. Don't, as Josh Billings used to say, "stand shivering in the brink." Plunge in, and here's good luck to you.

Just Right For Town.

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

CONSUELO'S show opens next week, and as Bill will be in town, our party is really just deferred. I think the show is going to be a success, for it is a swell production and has had an enormous amount of publicity because of the fire and all the human interest stories that the reporters wrote. Fortunately, the clothes that Madame made were so timely, so smart and lovely that not one single costume will have to be changed. I'm glad, for the things suit Consuelo so well.

Dodo is so excited about the show. It is so long since she has been in town that she is running round in circles. It is lovely to have her with us and she is great fun. Of course, she isn't the crazy thing she used to be, for her marriage and the unhappiness that has been her lot have tamed her.

Marriage Is Over.

From what she indicates, the marriage is over and she will institute divorce proceedings so that she may receive full custody of the baby. It is one of those cases where both are right, so it is difficult to place the blame on either one. There's one thing, though: I really do not believe that Dodo was in love with her husband. I think she married him because she thought that they would be an interesting couple, because she was lonely and for many other reasons, but not for real love.

Companionship is vitally important and is a good reason for marriage when it comes to more mature folks. But for young people, marriage has no place unless it is founded on a basis of honest love, love that they honestly believe will be enduring.

Our suit department is going great guns and every day new designs appear. Here is one that is just right for town, a wool daytime dress and jacket ensemble. The dress is simple with long sleeves, high neck and wide box-pleat from yoke to hem, front and back. The jacket has a cloth center, front and back, cloth sleeves and a fur collar and cuffs. A satin bow at the neckline gives a soft touch.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Yes, I've never seen him before," I answered, and Mary's gaze came back to us.

"He's a clumsy sleuth," she said. "I distinctly saw him indicate our car to his driver and that's something that simply isn't done in our best sleuthig circles."

"Do you mean that somebody's shadowing you people?"

"Nothing less, my little cabbage," Mary laughed. "Oh! Auntie Madge and I are getting used to having our every movement trailed. Only they don't always succeed in trailing us. We know a trick or two, don't we, Auntie Madge?"

"Any number," I answered with purposeful nonchalance, for I saw the worry in the eyes of both Bill and Hank.

"But," Bill broke out stormily, "who's daring to do anything like that? Look here! If you think there's somebody following us, draw up this cab and point him out to us. Hank and I will go over and do a swell job on him. I'll bet when we get through with him he won't do any more sleuthing for awhile."

"He won't do anything except from a hospital bed," Hank growled, and the smiles that Mary and I flashed at them held far more tenderness than protest.

"And wouldn't that be simply swell?" she mocked. "Remember, we're not sure the man in the other cab is a detective, we're simply, as Katie says, 'dee-dooing.' Wouldn't it be nice to find out you'd been beating up some nice deacon or Sunday school superintendent?"

"Kick' Out Of It.

"Not that I don't appreciate your offer, you darlings," she went on swiftly. And I can see how the thought of detectives trailing your little sister and your auntie makes you see red. But honestly it doesn't trouble us a bit. We're getting a great kick out of making ring-tailed monkeys out of them, aren't we, Auntie Madge?"

"Indeed we are," I prevaricated nobly, and was rewarded by seeing the anxiety fade from the eyes of the boys, although the indignation remained.

"Well! If it's something that you're not worried about." Hank said, "of course we won't start any rumpus you don't want. But I sure would like to smack that fellow down."

"He's isn't the one that needs it most," Bill said reasonably. "After all, I suppose he's only earning his living. But if I could get hold of the person who hired him for this dirty work, I'd——"

He left the threat in the air, and Mary, with eyes agleam, leaned over and patted his knee.

"If I could find that out," she said, "I'd be your second in the slugging match. But that's something nobody knows—a deep, dark mystery. I'll probably get the low-down on it some time. Until then, it's up to little Mary to walk straight and narrow. No bootlegged ice cream sodas or chewing gum to give them any grounds for reporting that I'm not 'tending strictly to my knitting."

Bill's eyes widened in horrified amazement.

"Mary!" he exclaimed. "You don't mean that you think Noel's father is having you watched, do you?"

Dishes In Keeping With Season

By ALICE LYNN BARRY

HERE are some delightful dishes to celebrate the autumn bounties, nuts, fruits, pumpkins, grapes, squash, etc.

Coddled apples simply smell of the tangy flavor of this time o' year. For eight medium-sized red apples, you will require a few whole cloves, one and three-quarters cups boiling water, three-fourths cup light corn syrup small piece stick cinnamon. Wash fruit but do not peel. Place in large, flat sauce pan. Add water, syrup and spices. Cover and cook very slowly until apples are tender. Remove from oven at once and pour syrup from pan over apples. Chill and serve with plain cream.

Autumn Souffle.

Autumn souffle requires four tablespoons butter, five tablespoons flour, one-quarter teaspoon salt, one cup milk, three eggs, one-third cup sugar, one tablespoon lemon juice and one cup sliced dates. Melt butter, add flour and salt. Mix thoroughly. Add milk slowly, stirring while adding. Cook until smooth and thick, stirring constantly. Cool. Add beaten egg yolks, sugar, lemon juice and dates. Pour into well-greased baking dish and place, uncovered, in pan containing about one inch hot water. Bake for one hour in 325 degrees F. oven. Serve warm with cream. It makes six to eight servings.

Grapefruit tapioca requires one and one-half cups water one-third cup quick-cooking tapioca, one-half cup sugar, two large, fresh grapefruit, one cup grapefruit juice and one-quarter teaspoon salt. Place water in top of double boiler and bring to boil over direct heat. Combine tapioca, sugar and salt; gradually bring to brisk boil, stirring constantly. Place over rapidly-boiling water and cook for five minutes. Cool; add grapefruit juice. Chill. Remove sections from grapefruit and place in sherbet glasses. Cover with tapioca mixture and garnish with additional grapefruit sections. It serves six.

Pecan pie, as made in that gastronomical center, New Orleans, is typical of the season. It takes three slightly beaten eggs, one cup sugar, one cup dark corn syrup, one-eighth teaspoon salt, one-half to one cup pecan meats, coarsely chopped, and one recipe pie crust. Mix ingredients, adding nutmeats last. Pour into pie pan or eight-inch square shallow pan which has been lined with pie crust. Place in hot oven (450 degrees F.) about 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 325 degrees F. and bake until filling is firm (about 50 minutes). At end of 40 minutes insert silver knife into filling; pie is done when knife comes out clean. When done, top, will be firm and crusty with pecans showing. Cook slowly.

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Nov. 16.

INTRIGUE, adventure, romance and the mysterious bear rule on this day, according to the lunar as well as mutual aspects. It is quite likely that a sudden visitation of rather singular angles may be at the root of a rather revolutionary change in plans, environs or ideas. The inner nature seems particularly attuned to the new order, a radical about-face from old frustrating and disappointing surroundings, associates or philosophies. Wisely considered and adjusted, this experience may culminate in much progress and good fortune, but be careful with contracts and all writings.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year of very unusual, unorthodox and singular adventures, with intrigue, romance and radical change in the objectives, ideas, associates and environs.

Look Back When You Don Evening Dress

By MME. QUI VIVE

Many a girl, togged for the festive evening pow-wow, gives herself a beauty pat on the back. Coiffure a picture of charm, complexion the proper formula of cosmetic calcimine and paint, lips beautifully etched, gown a stunner. But she doesn't see what others see, and that's her back. It may have flattering lines, just the right amount of adipose padding, but what about the skin surface? Ah-ha! That's where we've got her. Too few girls are back minded. And backs are more than barely bare this season, let me tell you. Down to the waistline.

Putting a recreant back in form is one job that can't be done in solitude. Sister or Mom has to be called in to serve as beauty operator.

First there is a soapy shampoo, which means that the suds must be massaged in with the finger tips, the flesh picked in little hills, pressed gently. A wash cloth gives but a surface cleansing, doesn't force the lather into the pores and that's necessary to loosen the waxlike barricades. After the pummeling, a brush must be used to remove the dead skin scales, bring freshness and glow to the flesh.

The soap is rinsed or sprayed away, hot applications are applied. They will heal eruptions, whisk away the black points that are disfiguring.

A gentle drying follows, then an alcohol rub to petition the blood streams to gallivant briskly about their business. That treatment is a great help in cultivating a satin smooth skin surface.

When dressing for the gala occasion, sponge the back and shoulders with eau de cologne directly after the bath. In fifteen or twenty minutes apply a fairly dark powder with one of those swell-elegant lamb's wool pads that are about the size of a wagon wheel. Include the arms and chest. Arms are not always what they should be.

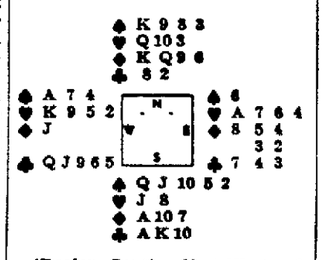
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

WAIT FOR A SIGNAL

WINNING THE first round of a suit led by the declarer, trumps or otherwise, may necessitate your having to guess what suit to return. If you think your partner will not be able to follow suit on the second round, it is sometimes wise to hold up your ace and not play it until you have had a chance to see his discard. If there is any particular suit he would then like you to lead, he can indicate it with a signal.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable).

The bidding on this deal was 1-Spade by South, 2-Spades by North, 3-Spades by South and 4-Spades by North.

Against this bidding, West elected to lead his singleton J of diamonds because of his trump holding. If he could get East in the lead, he hoped to be able to trump at least one diamond.

South won the first trick with the diamond A and immediately led the spade Q. West took the trick with his A and switched to the club Q. As a result the declarer lost only two tricks.

East remarked that the hand could have been set if West had led a heart. West replied that this would have been a pure guess, but East pointed out that, as South had bid without the A and K of his spades, he no doubt held five and therefore East held only one. Passing the first round therefore would have given East a chance to signal in hearts, so that there would have been no guess.

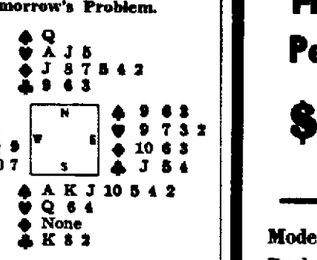
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable).

How should South play for 4-Spades after the lead of the diamond K?

SEALSKIN EPAULETS

PARIS—(AP)—New epaulets for a black wool suit are black sealskin pompons bunched on shoulder in close formation. This is an Alix notion. She also uses this fur to make a Scotch cap, with two short seal streamers falling down the back. The coat with the cap is a Scotch plaid.

CONTRAST

PARIS—(AP)—Afternoon ensembles often feature coats in contrast with the dresses. Patou shows a plaid lined green coat with a dress of beige woolen, Paquin a short coat of red antelope with a striped frock. One of Schiaparelli's combinations is a bright green tweed coat, lined with baby fox, topping a smooth wool dress in a darker shade of green.

Madison Out of Mid-State?

* * * * * *

Joe Miller Kicks 23 Points

* * * * *

Freshmen Challenge Sophs

By OSCAR RUHL, News-Journal Sports Editor.

RUMOR—Wonder how much truth there is in the report that the Mid-State league will be enlarged to eight schools . . with Madison not a member? The proposed membership includes Butler, Bellville, Mt. Gilead, Loudonville, Danville, Fredericktown, Sunbury and Centerburg, according to the story that just leaked out.

CONFUSION—The Big Ten will select the 1938 champion Saturday from a confusing jam of contenders including every team in the first division. Here's the situation: The winner of the Minnesota-Wisconsin game will gain at least a share of the championship; Ohio State can obtain a share by defeating Michigan or win it outright if Minnesota and Wisconsin tie. In case of a tie at Wisconsin and a defeat of Ohio State, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Purdue and Michigan can share the championship.

SCORE COUNTS—They still pay off on the marks on the scoreboard. You perhaps noticed that Notre Dame made only two first downs against Minnesota.

RAH FOR LANGHURST—The quiet-mannered Willard boy has been playing the most consistent ball of any of the Ohio State backs. Jim Langhurst is the outstanding fullback in the Big Ten. He's almost certain to win the conference scoring title in his sophomore year.

WHAT'S THIS?—Sunday's Columbus Dispatch carried a story about the "undefeated" Avondale Theaters. That's the team the Kallmerten & Baers trimmed 13 to 6 a week ago . . . and it reported a 12-12 tie to the Columbus paper on the return home. Shame on you, Avondales.

WHO'LL WIN?—Ohio State and Michigan collide in Columbus Saturday. Comparative records show both the Bucks and Wolverines battling to a scoreless tie with Northwestern. Michigan beat Illinois, 14 to 0, while Ohio topped the Champaign lads, 32 to 14. Ohio trounced Chicago, 42 to 7, and Michigan did likewise, 45 to 7. Take your pick, m'lads.

GOLDEN TOE—Joe Miller, Madison high captain and fullback, is showing the boys around here how to boot the extra points. He has converted 23 out of 28 kicks. That's just about perfect, boys. The 23 points should just about give him the lead in this department.

COACH CULP—Heidelberg college has increased its sports program, with under-graduates doing the coaching. Senior Lionel Culp of Mansfield is teaching his fellow students how to wrestle.

* * * * *

Weight Can Be Handicap to Football Player, Too.

A MERE BOY—Canton McKinley has a colored tackle who tips the scales at a mere 297 pounds. But he stayed in the ball game Saturday just long enough to prove quite convincingly that he didn't belong in there. The Tygers walked right over him.

HOW ABOUT IT?—Coaches are funny about announcing weights of their players. According to the Canton figures, the Bulldogs average only a little better than 160 pounds. Mansfield averaged around 171. Yet on the field Canton outweighed the Tygers by many, many pounds.

INDIANS STARTED IT—Cleveland dipped into the minor leagues when it needed a new pilot last winter. Now other major league clubs are following suit. The Cardinals grabbed Ray Blades from the International, the Browns took Fred Haney from the Association and the Phillies found Doc Protho in the Southern league. It couldn't be that the owners are trying to save a few shekles with lower-priced pilots, could it? Maybe the fact that Joe McCarthy, a former minor pilot, has had so much success has something to do with it. But, if the other owners think the answer is as simple as that they are likely to be disappointed.

Fans Boo as Galento Wins On Kayo Over Harry Thomas

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Fight fans wondered today about Tony Galento's unimpressive return to the ring after an absence of four months.

Appearing in his first fight since he was taken ill with pneumonia in midsummer, the beer-loving saloon keeper of Orange, N. J., scored a three-round technical knockout over Harry Thomas of Eagle Bend, Minn., at Convention hall last night

A crowd of 10,000 which Promoter Herman Taylor said paid a gross gate of $23,000, booed long and loud as Thomas dropped to the floor five times in the third round before Referee Tommy O'Keefe stopped the fight after 2:20 of the round. Galento weighed 236, Thomas 198½.

Scores Knockdowns.

Galento, ranked by the national boxing association as the leading challenger for Joe Louis' heavyweight championship, first flattened Thomas for a count of seven. The second count went to four, the third to nine and the fourth to six.

The fifth time Thomas was down for eight. He tried to get to his feet, but when he fell to one knee Referee O'Keefe waved Galento's hand aloft in token of victory.

Most of Galento's punches were left hooks and seemed light blows, but Tony explained in the dressing room afterward "I hit him on the temple. I don't know why the crowd booed. I've knocked out tougher guys with lighter punches."

"Tony hit me behind the car coming out of a clinch," Thomas said. "That got me dizzy. Later, I thought he was open and tried to nail him, but he got his left in just like Louis did against me. This guy Galento is shrewder than he looks and can punch, too."

Reserve Coach Wins 'By Kidding the Boys'

CLEVELAND — (U.P.) — Coach William M. "Big Bill" Edwards, whose Western Reserve university Red Cats in four years have rung up a football record of 34 wins, two defeats, and one tie, kicked a blade of grass toward a mythical goal post today and explained that he gets his phenomenal results "just by kidding the boys."

"There's no secret to how I coach," shrugged Edwards, son of a Massillon, O., coal miner. "I just treat my boys as equals, avoid excitement when I talk to them and leave the dressing-room pep talk to the fiction writer. Sometimes I knock off practice entirely and take some of the boys hunting. I like to bag a few pheasants, now and then."

NOTRE DAME IN FRONT IN A-P FOOTBALL POLL

NEW YORK — (AP) — The way things have been going lately, almost any team that hasn't had the tar licked out of it is good for at least a vote or two in the weekly Associated Press football ranking poll. Right now, however, Notre Dame is on top of a heap that includes 31 colleges.

Notre Dame drew 60 first place votes from 92 sports writers who participated in the fifth poll of the season.

High School Football Passes From Local Scene This Week

Madison Closes Schedule With Mt. Gilead Friday; Bucyrus, Marion Ring Down NCO Curtain.

FOOTBALL will pass out of the picture in these parts this week-end. All but four of the teams in the district closed their seasons last Friday and Saturday.

This week's contests involve Mid-State league and N. C. O. conference teams.

The headline attraction sends the Madison Rams against Mt. Gilead at the Madison field Friday night, and a victory for the Rams will give the suburbanites the championship.

Marion plays at Bucyrus in the other game Friday night, but it has no bearing on titular honors. Shelby and Galion share the crown by virtue of their tie last week.

Shelby and Galion, incidentally, closed the season as the only two unbeaten clubs in the district. The mark on their schedule is the 13-13 tie to which they played last week.

Madison, with eight victories in nine games, and Bellville, with seven in eight, sport the next best records. Mansfield's record shows four wins in nine games.

The Rams continue well ahead in the scoring race in the state as well as in the district. They now have scored 301 points. Shelby boasts of the best defensive record. It permitted only 26 points.

Team records follow:

Signs Match For Inaugural

Nolan to Pit Arquette Against Remille Friday.

Gordon Arquette, Indian light-heavyweight contender from Yakima, Wash., will meet Frank Remille of Portland, Ore., in the top battle of Friday's mat program in the Armory. Signing of the western stars was announced today by Tim Nolan, matchmaker of the Quality club.

Arquette, well-known in this vicinity, is riding a wave of victories and is making a determined bid for honors in his division. Remille only recently arrived in the midwest.

Arquette will wrestle Remille for the two best falls out of a possible three, with a time limit of one hour, inaugurating the winter season here. It will be the first professional wrestling presentation offered in Mansfield since last June and gives promise of a "new deal" for the sport in this sector.

The Quality club has formed associations with talent agencies in Columbus, Toledo and Chicago, recognized throughout the country as leading mat capitals. Nolan believes that these connections will enable him to bring many new faces here, among them some of the nation's most capable grapplers.

PERRYSVILLE RULES OUT BASKETBALL FOR GIRLS

PERRYSVILLE—Complying with a ruling passed by the Perrysville board of education at a recent meeting, girls' basketball will be dropped from the list of interscholastic sports in the Perrysville schools, it was announced this week.

Whether Perrysville will be allowed to carry out its schedule of boys' basketball games with other Ashland county schools has not yet been determined, since all other schools have girls' games on their schedules. It is considered possible that Perrysville may attempt to schedule games with Richland county schools in event it is impossible to continue in the Ashland county league.

Feller's Too Fast

DES MOINES, Ia.—(AP)—Bob Feller, the Cleveland Indians' major league single game strike-out king, was ordered today by Municipal Judge Ralph Powers to appear Nov. 28 for hearing on a charge of reckless driving. State highway patrolmen said they clocked Feller at 80 miles an hour as he was returning from a hunting trip.

Duke Weber's 683 Sets Record; Legionnaires Roll 2898 Total

George Garrison Hangs Up 11 Straight Strikes In Club League.

DUKE WEBER of the Liederkranz club was high man in the Club handicap league at the Meder alleys last night with 683 series, and the big total constitutes a new season record.

Weber galloped out games of 238, 218 and 227 as he led his team to a flashy 2865 total and a pair of wins over the Kiwanians. Harold Selby contributed a 592 to the Liederkranz total.

George Garrison of the Mansfield Savings bank wrote out a 650 series, which included 11 straight strikes. Garrison started his opening 256 game with a strike and spare and strike and spare, and then struck out with nine straight. He collected two more strikes in his second game before the string was snapped. The Bankers won a pair from the Mansfield Athletic club.

The first place American Legian club pounded out the high team series of 2898, and swept its series with the Optimists. Harry Brinkman and Earl Robertson led the Legionnaires with respective scores of 637 and 619, and Art Hilborn led the Optimists with a 617.

Three-Second Rule Modified

Ontario, Nova Cage Clubs Play In Exhibition Tilt at Meeting Conducted In Ashland.

THE fading pigskin reverie of this district's sports fans was interrupted today by advance murmurs from the national indoor game—basketball.

A gathering of 150 coaches, officials and players of the cage game met in Ashland last night under the tutorship of John Longley of Ashland high to get the lowdown on the new regulations governing court play during the coming season. The meeting was sponsored by the Ohio High School Athletic association.

The most significant news brought by Porter to the average spectator indicated that the "pivot-style" offense of former days is coming back.

Favors Use of Big Men.

The form will be modified but the fans again can expect to see young lanky giants hovering on offense near the free throw line, back to the basket, waiting for a pass to enable them either to pivot and attempt a close in shot or to shoot the ball to a fast-traveling teammate driving for the basket.

Impetus for revival of the pivot style, which was solidly checked two years ago by the three-second rule inside the free throw circle, was given by modification of the three-second regulation.

Last year no offensive player could remain in the free throw circle territory more than three seconds. This year, he may stand in the circle area back of the actual free throw line (toward the floor center) for any length of time and await a pass from a teammate. However, the three-second limitation becomes effective as soon as he receives the ball.

The only other major rules change affects high school teams who end deadlocked in score at the end of the regular four quarters. The "sudden death" overtime method of settling tie scores, formerly optional, will become mandatory in all high school games next winter.

Two Points Wins.

It works as follows: The first team to get a two-point lead, one basket or two free throws, wins automatically. If at the end of three minutes, only one point has been made by either team, that point decides the game. If no points are scored by either side, the game continues into more overtime periods and the same method on deciding the winner prevails.

The new rules were demonstrated in a game between teams representing Ontario and Nova Tony Lonero and George Donges of Ashland college handled the game and interrupted it frequently to explain the rules.

Sandusky High Quits Circuit

Streaks Find It Too Easy To Win In Buckeye.

SANDUSKY — (U.P.)—When winning becomes too monotonous, it is time to do something about it, Sandusky high school officials decided today.

Principal Karl E. Whinnery announced today that Sandusky would withdrawn from the Buckeye High School Athletic league at the close of this school year.

When Sandusky defeated Findlay high school's football team 40 to 0 last Saturday, Sandusky won the league title for the fifth consecutive season, or ever since the league was formed. Whinnery said football and track contests here and in league cities have been unpopular of late.

Other league members are Fremont Ross, Tiffin Columbian, Tiffin Junior Home and Findlay. Sandusky will schedule other teams to replace these, it was said.

FORMER OHIO TRAINER GETS LEAVE OF ABSENCE

BATON ROUGE, La. — (AP) — Mike Chambers, trainer for the past three years of Louisiana State athletic teams, and former trainer at Ohio State university, today was given a leave of absence until next June. Chambers asked for the leave to recover his health and attend to personal affairs.

RIES LEADS SCORERS

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Johnny Ries, one of the finest sophomore halfbacks ever to trod an Ohio gridiron, took over the state college individual scoring leadership today with 12 touchdowns, or 72 points.

SCHEDULED FRIDAY

GRANVILLE—(AP)—The Denison-Heidelberg college football game scheduled here Saturday has been moved up to Friday, Athletic Director Walter J. Livingston announced today.

The re-match resulted when the Akron team, dissatisfied with the result of the first meeting, challenged the Mansfield eleven to another game.

BUY NO ANTI-FREEZE

—until you read these facts about Du Pont "Zerone"*

A FRIENDLY WARNING: You cannot be sure of getting the best value in anti-freeze until you know what Du Pont has to offer in "Zerone."

First of all, extraordinary anti-freeze protection. Scientific tests prove that "Zerone" would keep water from freezing solid even at 215° below zero. You'll never encounter temperatures like that, so you can be sure "Zerone" used in accordance with directions will protect your car in the coldest weather you'll ever experience.

The materials from which "Zerone" is made are so effective you need comparatively little "Zerone" to achieve protection. That's economy. Properly used, replacements of "Zerone" are little indeed—and that's economy, too.

Furthermore, scientific tests prove that the mixture of "Zerone" and water passes off engine heat better than water alone. That improves engine performance.

"Zerone" in a clean cooling system prevents formation of rust and corrosion—avoids power losses, helps save fuel and oil. Those are the facts, so ask your dealer to protect your radiator with "Zerone" today. It's only $1.00 a gallon. Du Pont, "Zerone" Division, Wilmington, Delaware.

Coal-Misfit Grid Game Still Indefinite

WHETHER the Kallmerten and Baer Coals will meet Brownie's Misfits in a football game for the mythical city semi-pro title at League park next Sunday remained doubtful today.

In the conditions under which the Coals will consider to play, it was stated that George Hummel and Tony Shadek would not be permitted to play with the Misfits. They are former K-B players.

Ted (Brownie) Brown of the Misfits stated today that his team would not play with the Coals without the two players under any conditions.

Brown also said today that he is of the opinion that the Kallmerten and Baer club is "afraid to play us."

John Villella, business manager of the Coals, stated that there is only a slim chance of the game being played "because the Browns want their own way about everything."

It will probably be learned definitely late today whether or not the game will be played.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.,— (INS) — Boblo, a 3-year-old pure-bred shepherd dog owned by Louis Chauvard, San Diego police officer, would have no difficulty in passing a life-saving test. One of Boblo's best tricks is to swim to a drowning person, then turn about and head slowly back to shore. All the near-victim has to do is grab the dog's tail and hold on. Boblo even helps roll the drowning person onto dry land.

Unsettling Turn of Affairs In Europe Reflected In Stock Market.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Renewed selling, inspired largely by the latest unsettling turn of affairs in Europe, jolted pivotal stock market industrials down fractions to more than two points today.

Prominent on the downside were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, Westinghouse, U. S. Gypsum, Douglas Aircraft, Kennecott, International Harvester and Montgomery Ward.

Bonds retreated with stocks and most commodities were in arrears. Another break in sterling and French franc was a bit disconcerting to financial quarters. There was a coincidental boost in the London gold price. Foreign securities markets backed away.

Despite gathering international clouds, market analysts maintained a hopeful attitude toward domestic business prospects.

Noted were the Dun & Bradstreet building figures for October showing construction permits in 215 leading cities, while off 4.6 per cent from September, were 7.1 per cent higher than in October last year.

Encouraging was the continued upward trend in steel mill operations.

Machine tools orders, regarded as an important economic barometer, were reported by the National Machine Tool Builders association to have expanded in October.

alone," said Ickes. "The time comes when neither man nor nation can live without the decent respect of their fellow men."

Landon, whom President Roosevelt has appointed a delegate to the Pan-American conference next month, said "there is a real danger of the growth of intolerance here in America," because "unchecked mass brutality is contagious."

Former President Hoover declared the situation "makes us fearful for the whole progress of civilization, and added that it is bringing to Germany "moral isolation from the entire world."

Relations between the United States and Germany in general have not been of the best in the last year.

Germany has not replied to repeated notes from the United States requesting her to assume Austria's debts to this country. The United States protested in May against a decree requiring the registration of property of American Jews in Germany as a forerunner to the confiscation of the property.

How much, if any, of the property has suffered in the anti-Semitic outbreaks of the last few days is not known here.

Special services are planned for 7:30 p. m. at the church through to Friday. Tonight the speaker will be Rev. David N. Roller of Mansfield. Rev. Guy H. Volpitto of Loudonville will be the guest pastor Wednesday.

HOLDS ELECTION

SHELBY — Officers and six trustees were re-elected for the Oakland Cemetery association at its annual meeting held Monday afternoon at the First National bank building.

Officers chosen were F. J. Kotz, president; E. E. Hawk, vice president; George Williams, treasurer, and Mrs. Effie Pannabaker, secretary. With the exception of the secretary, the officers and the following men make up the board of trustees: Harry Orewiler, Bert Fix and George Armstrong.

GUESTS OF THEATER

HALT CRITICISM OF PURGE, NAZIS DEMAND TO U. S.

German Press Warns Jews Will Suffer More Should Attacks Continue.

doubt that Ambassador Wilson would return soon to Berlin.

Although the German press has suppressed all news of the indignation abroad, the afternoon newspaper Zwolfuhrblatt took cognizance of it today in an attack on "Washington."

"Apostles of humanitarianism and the purposeful politicians of Washington—how could they be otherwise—are panic-stricken over the clean division of Germans and Jews effected in Germany," the newspaper said.

"They hammer and curse with such effect that it soon might be too much for us. This Washington should let itself be told! Or has one failed correctly to understand Goebbel's words that any new campaign will be a bad service to the Jews of Germany.

"If so, then it should be repeated as a warning which should not be taken lightly, because it is meant damn seriously," Zwolfuhrblatt said.

The campaign of Jew "hostages" arrests continued. Fritz Warburg, Hamburg banker and brother of the late Felix Warburg and Paul Moritz Warburg, American financiers, was reported to have been taken into custody.

Jews did not expect decrees aimed at cultural limitations to end with their banishment from German schools and universities.

More decrees along this line were expected as soon as the Nazis found new opportunities to detach Jewish and German economic and cultural life by the establishment of Ghettos.

Suicides Increase.

New suicides were reported as Jews tried to raise nearly $500,000,000 to pay a fine levied on Jews as a whole and repair damage done to Jewish property by rioters.

Behind the announced Nazi motive for the drive—the killing of a minor German official of the embassy in Paris—some financial circles saw an acute Nazi economic situation as the real cause.

Germany faces a huge and rapidly mounting deficit, it was said. New funds were needed for Field Marshal Herman Wilhelm Goering's four-year plan of economic self sufficiency, which had placed a heavy drain on the nation.

The reich already had floated this year more than 6,000,000,000 marks ($2,400,000,000 B) in new loans and it seemed impossible to arrange additional loans, although more funds were needed to finance public works under the four-year plan.

Although the fine on Jews would not solve the reich financial problem it would reduce the deficit and elleviate the financial situation for a few months.

The United States consulate was swamped with telegrams from abroad. Most asked for information regarding relatives and friends. More than 3,000 persons gathered at the consulate attempting to obtain visas. Refugees continued to stream into Berlin from the provinces to escape terrorism.

'Queen's Husband' to Be First Production; Try-Outs to Be Held Soon.

GALION — Last night at the meeting of the Drama Workshop Players held at the home of Mary Alice Burden, the play committee chairman, Elizabeth Bland, announced that play books have been ordered for "The Queen's Husband," which has been decided upon as the first play of the season to be given by the players here. Best Cough Remedy Is Easily Mixed at Home
It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.
To get the quickest imaginable relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never be without it in your home, and it's so simple and easy.
First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.
Then get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. This is a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, in concentrated form, well-known for its prompt action on throat and bronchial membranes.
Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really splendid medicine and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.
And for quick, blessed relief, it is amazing. You can feel it take hold in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep. Just try it, and if not pleased, your money will be refunded.

NOVELIST EAGER TO RETURN HERE

Mansfield's Still 'Home' to Bromfield; He's Anxious To See Old Friends.

"I'm going to buy a farm in Richland county if I can find one," he said, "and I'm going to build the sort of home that will come to my children after my death, and which I hope will be passed on to their children. I'll live there six or eight months a year and the children will go to school there.

"Richland county and Ohio are in my blood. I could live in every city in the world—but Mansfield would still be home."

This was strange coming from the man who wrote of himself and Mansfield in 1932: "Johnny was aware that The Town was not his home . . . and that whatever happened, he would never return to it, or be any part of its life. He might come to inhabit Abyssinia or Timbuctoo, but never would he return to The Town or any community like it."

I reminded him of that self-analysis in "The Farm" and asked him if Johnny had changed.

"No," he said frankly, "Johnny never changed. That wasn't written by Johnny when he left The Town, but in 1932 when I was thoroughly disgusted with small town Americans for holding Herbert Hoover up as their national idol."

* * *

Bromfield is a Democrat—and how! He is firmly convinced that if Jesus of Nazareth came back today He'd be a Democrat, and that if Thomas Jefferson were reincarnated, he'd be a New Dealer.

His obsession is politics; the politics of the entire world, but first, last and always, he is a Democrat. He frankly admits he inherited his politics. "When I was a kid," he said, "my father told me to be anything on God's earth—except a Republican."

Bromfield is one author who doesn't preface his books with the familiar "Any similarity to characters living or dead is purely coincidental as all of the characters are fictional." He admits that every character he has ever brought to life in the pages of his books is real or inspired by actual persons. Even in "The Rains Came" the characters are individuals Bromfield either met in Barroda or knew by reputation.

* * *

His favorite books among his own writings are "Green Bay Tree" (he still thinks Lily Shane the most glamorous woman he has ever met), "The Farm" (which is very frankly a fictionized biography of himself and his people in Mansfield), and "The Rains Came."

His favorite short stories include "The Listener" which has been translated in many languages, and is—believe it or not—the story of a woman from Bellville, O., who sat beneath a tree near the Grand Hotel in Naples and heard a story which brought ruin to the world's most spectacular financial figure.

"You see I can't get away from Richland county even at the Grand Hotel in Naples," he commented. "And once when I attended a dinner at an English post 600 miles north of Calcutta, the woman who sat at my right was a Mansfield woman who left here years ago. Perhaps it is because I'm always looking for Mansfield people."

His next novel will be of Ohio and this vicinity and will deal with the period immediately after 1800.

With Bromfield in Oberlin are his wife and three children. The children who were in a private school in London just before coming to America, are completely taken with American public schools, and the freedom given them here. And they have already issued an ultimatum to the effect that if their daddy chooses to go back to Europe to live—he goes alone. They will stay here to be good Americans.

Oh, yes, and good Democrats.

To Pen To Die?

Robert Irwin, the "mad sculptor" pleaded guilty to second degree murder in New York yesterday as the slayer of Veronica Gedeon, model, her mother and a boarder in the Gedeon home. He predicted that he would be out of prison within 10 years, but psychiatrists said he would be dead within five, a victim of dementia praecox and syphilis.

CUMMINGS TO QUIT, BELIEF

Change In Attorney General's Office First In Shakeup, Washington Hears.

Works Progress Administrator Hopkins replacing Secretary of Commerce Roper were "premature." He declined to add to that statement.

For several months there have been recurring rumors that changes in the cabinet were imminent. Since the general elections last week, there have been unconfirmed reports not only of commerce and justice department changes, but also of new secretaries of labor and of the navy.

The resignation of Cummings would not be unexpected. It has been known for some time that he wished to return to private law practice in Stamford, Conn.

Likewise, the appointment of Jackson as his successor would not surprise official Washington. For more than a year he has been one of the New Deal proteges and, at one time, received serious mention as the administration's choice to succeed Gov. Herbert Lehman of New York. Postmaster General Farley, as Democratic committee chairman, was reported to have spiked that plan as "impractical."

Jackson was appointed assistant attorney general in 1936. He had been general counsel for the bureau of internal revenue since 1934. He was made solicitor general in January, 1938, when Stanley F. Reed was appointed to the supreme court.

A change in the Roosevelt cabinet now would be only the third since Mr. Roosevelt's first inauguration in 1933. Both previous changes were a result of serious illness and death.

Mr. Roosevelt's first secretary of the treasury, William H. Woodin, resigned late in 1933 because of illness. Henry S. Morgenthau, jr., has held that post since. Later, Assistant Secretary of War Harry H. Woodring was elevated to the top post in that department after the death of Secretary George H. Dern.

The president will leave the capital Sunday for a two-week Thanksgiving vacation at the infantile paralysis foundation in Georgia.

"I HAVE TO USE A FINE FLOUR"

says Miss Ruth Chambers Cooking School Director

"Naturally, when I face audiences of alert home makers I can't take chances on the way my baking will turn out. So I use a fine flour, Pillsbury's Best. Now isn't a fine flour just as necessary to you who bake for hungry families, and who have strict food budgets?"

SIMPLE FOODS SHOW UP A FLOUR

Nine-tenths of your baking consists of simple foods . . . breads, pies, biscuits, plain cakes, and cookies. In these foods flour is the principal ingredient; there are no fancy flavorings to disguise the shortcomings of cheap flour. For success, use a fine flour, Pillsbury's Best. It is the "balanced" flour, scientifically milled from finer, more costly wheats.

Folder containing new "balanced" recipes and complete baking methods packed in every bag.

THOUSANDS BUY HOMES THROUGH FHA ASSISTANCE

Number Increasing 12,500 Weekly, Administrator's Report Shows.

More than 1,200,000 persons are living in homes financed under the FHA plan, according to figures made public by Administrator Stewart McDonald.

This number is now being increased at the rate of approximately 12,500 a week as a consequence of the accelerated home construction activities under the liberalized FHA program put into effect last February.

In addition, it is estimated that between five and six million persons have been enabled to improve their living conditions through the FHA Property Improvement program. More than 12,000 of these loans are being insured each week.

Premium paying mortgages recorded by the FHA covering small homes reached a total of 279,599 valued at $1,159,523,341 on October 15. Each of these mortgages represents at least one dwelling unit and some of them as many as four units.

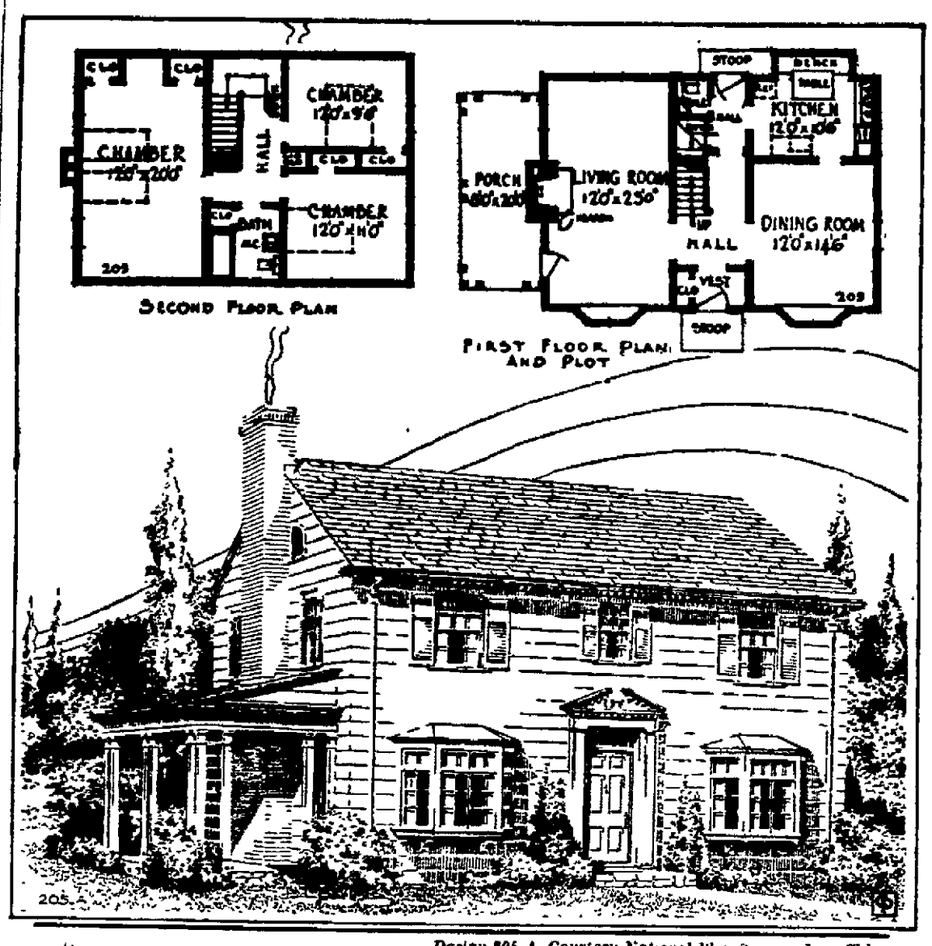
Large scale projects financed under the FHA plan have provided an additional 4,400 family units and projects nearing completion will add over 9,600 more units.

On the basis of four persons to the family it is estimated that the number of persons housed under the FHA plan is now in excess of 1,200,000.

Under the Property Improvement program a total af 1,706,364 loans valued at $679,131,545 have been made by private lending institutions insured by the FHA. Of these loans, approximately 1,400,000 have been made for modernizing or repairing dwellings and 266,000 for improvement of small business or other types of properties.

The Federal Housing administration's foreclosure experience continues highly satisfactory, according to McDonald. As of Sept. 30, only 331 homes had been turned over to the FHA following foreclosure. Net losses chargeable against the FHA as a result of sale at that date of 135 properties totaled slightly under $70,000. To meet such losses the FHA has available a Mutual Mortgage Insurance Fund now amounting to $22,963,822 accumulated in the treasury from insurance premiums and appraisal fees.

Simple Colonial and Distinctive Plan



Design 205-A, Courtesy National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago

Six-room colonial house, showing simple exterior and floor plans; house contains 24,360 cubic feet, including porch.

(By Central Press)

SIMPLE colonial beauty distinguishes this six-room house.

Downstairs is a large living room, which opens upon a porch. There is a fireplace in this room and a bow window in front.

There is a central hall containing vestibule with closet, staircase and downstairs toilet. From this hall you enter dining room and kitchen on the right.

The master bedroom on the second floor is the same size as the living room, except that two closets are built in at the far end of the room. Bathroom, and two more bedrooms, each with its own closet, occupy the remainder of the upstairs.

This house may be erected with an English type of architecture, if you prefer, using the same floor plans.

The size of the main building is 33 by 24 feet; size over all, 42 by 31 feet. Cubic contents, house, 23,400 cubic feet; porch, 960 cubic feet; total 24,360 cubic feet.

TREE MIGRATION STUDIED

BERKELEY, Cal.—(U.P.)—Scientists at the University of California have decided that the "greatest migration of the world" was that of the California giant redwood trees. They have established that these "restless redwoods" were blown across the northern face of the earth for 70,000,000 years before they finally settled down in California

New Effects Now Possible With New Floor Covers

Flooring, the drab if not ugly duckling of decoration, is becoming increasingly a part of the scheme of interior decoration.

Whereas in the past flooring offered little opportunity for effective decor, being confined almost entirely to conventional strips of hard or soft woods, today a flood of new and colorful finish flooring materials are available.

Not only are many of these materials colorful and varied in design, but they are highly durable and readily applied.

For modernizing interiors, the materials offer opportunities for creating new effects at low cost and slight inconvenience.

Funds with which to finance the purchase and installation of new flooring may be obtained under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

A pound of soap dissolved in a gallon of hot water and added to five gallons of whitewash will give the whitewash a glossy appearance.

PRETTY MODELS HELP IN CURE OF BASHFULNESS

High School Boys Learning to Overcome Awe of Girls in Unique Class.

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA — Attractive models and a high school professor are helping some of Atlanta's bashful boys overcome their awe of girls.

The models usually are high school students. Spectators are boys, 15 to 20 years old, who are members of the "Everyday Living" class at Commercial high school, taught by 28-year-old Professor Dean E. Dreyer. The class, open to all three grades of the high school, has an enrollment of 30 boys, mostly juniors and seniors. It is held daily.

In one part of the course the model stands on a stool in front of the class clad in a bathing suit. The teacher and one or two of the boys drape her in yards of sheer material to bring out the figure. Sometimes both boys and girls are used for the demonstration.

The Effect Is 'Wholesome'.

"The effect is astonishingly wholesome," says Dreyer.

"We make no attempt to hedge or coerce the students in their reactions. Invariably the boys enter into the spirit of the study in an eager, intelligent attitude and leave the classroom with a feeling that a bugaboo has been lifted from their minds."

Convinced that grabbing in the dark for a marriage partner is risky business and may end in divorce, Dreyer, who is unmarried, discussed the subject with Dr. Willis A. Sutton, city school superintendent. The "Everyday Living" class resulted.

The first problem Dreyer encountered was what he calls "an age-worn barrier to wholesome association between the sexes."

He breaks this down by frank, informal talks, easy-to-understand lessons on eugenics, and "down to the earth" classroom demonstrations.

The boys study the art of being good conversationalists, the kind of clothes to wear for a formal dinner, and how to dance.

"We try not to skip anything," says the professor. "One of the boys may want to use the street car to take his girl friend out. If he does, he knows exactly the correct etiquette and can be just as much a cultured gentleman on the street car as if he were in a taxicab or a limousine.

"Naturally," he points out, "the girls have an opportunity to do a little 'looking over' on their own account. Therefore both sexes are much better situated to make intelligent happy choices of their life partners."

2 NEW CLUBS

Commercial, Library Groups Organized at Senior High.

Two new clubs have been added to the student organizations now meeting regularly at Senior high school.

The new groups are the Commercial club and the Library club. The former is open to any senior student taking the commercial course.

Officers of the Commercial club are Marjorie Mountain, president; Evelyn Whipp, vice president; Katherine Kaser, secretary; Mary Jackson, treasurer, and George Sherman, commercial instructor, adviser. Library club officers are Mabel Palmer, president; Harriet Ness, vice president; Phyllis Koons, secretary; Phyllis Reed, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Culbertson, librarian, adviser.

The Commercial club meets every Thursday and was organized to acquaint the students with business men and ways of the business offices in Mansfield. Meetings of the Library club will be held the second and fourth Thursdays of each month.

MARKET SCHOOL

Second Session of Co-operative Plan Set For Tomorrow Night.

B. A. Wallace of the department of rural economics, Ohio State university, will speak at the second of a series of cooperative marketing schools at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the common pleas courtroom at the courthouse.

The course in marketing, supervised by County Agent George B. Ganyard, is designed to instruct rural marketing groups in cooperative marketing methods.

FACES CHARGE

Richland Man Accused By Wife of Assaulting Father-In-Law.

Released yesterday under $500 bond, Eugene Patton, 28, of R. D. 2, Shelby, will be arraigned in municipal court Wednesday morning on a charge of assault and battery filed by his wife, Mrs. Mary Patton.

The affidavit accuses Patton of assaulting his father-in-law, Albert Danals, during a quarrel at Ontario several days ago. Patton was arrested at Vernon Junction by deputy sheriffs.

OKAY PETITION

Commissioners Agree to Improvement of 2 Township Ditches.

County commissioners today had approved a petition for improvement of the Clear Fork and Cedar Fork ditches in Jefferson township, and ordered a survey of the proposed improvement by County Engineer Howard C. Sword.

The project, which includes cleaning and dredging of approximately one mile of drainage ditch, will be a part of the county-wide flood control program, scheduled to get under way within the next week.

High School Class Helps Overcome Shyness

A MODEL . . . . . GETS ALL WRAPPED UP

This girl is one of the models used for demonstrations in Atlanta's "Everyday Living" class. She is being draped under the direction of Professor Dreyer, the man wearing glasses.

SAYS 500,000 CRIMINALS IN NATION ARMED

FBI Agent Tells Foremen's Club Number Greater Than Army and Navy.

United States has 500,000 armed criminals, more men than there are in the army and navy during peace times, Al Rosen, head of the Cleveland FBI office told 200 members of the Mansfield-Shelby Foreman's club last night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Citing crime statistics compiled by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Rosen said the nation has approximately 4,300,000 persons with criminal records.

"Eighteen of every 100 criminals are under 21 years of age, but anti-crime forces and educational methods are slowly changing the attitude of youth toward crime," he asserted.

"A few years ago, the small boy wanted to be the robber when he played with his friends because the robber usually got the best of it, but now he'd rather be the officer, or G-Man, for the same reason," he said.

Stresses Fingerprinting.

Rosen emphasized the importance of fingerprinting in the modern war against crime. The FBI has nine million prints on file in Washington and any one of them can be identified in five minutes, he declared. The identification service is free to police offices throughout the nation.

The federal agent showed a sound motion picture, "You Can't Get Away With It," illustrating the methods used by the FBI in tracking down a criminal and the training required of applicants for service in the organization.

He said there are approximately 650 federal agents working out of 42 district FBI offices in the nation, with J. Edgar Hoover directing the entire organization from Washington.

"It is possible to reach any one of the district offices from Washington in eight minutes and Hoover can confer with all of the district directors by radio or telephone at the same time," Rosen said.

Following the showing of the movie, Rosen answered questions from the audience. He was introduced by W. M. Weldon, jr., of the Ohio Brass company, president of the club.

Police Chiefs Meade K. Bates of Mansfield, and Leroy Coffee of Shelby, were guests at the dinner meeting.

GOLFER SURELY ERRATIC

WICHITA, Kas.—(UP)—A golfer who was none too sure of his control but had the foresight to be prepared for emergencies was sought by police for the theft of a bushel and a half of golf balls from George Matson's driving tee here. The golfer apparently didn't need any clubs because several new sets near the golf balls were not touched.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OHIO WOMAN MAIL CARRIER FOR DECADE PROUD OF HER RECORD

(By United Press)

MARION — Energetic Mrs. Charles Trefz has traveled a distance equal to six times around the world during her 10 years as northeastern Marion county's rural mail carrier.

Mrs. Trefz is one of only a few women in the nation who are fully-commisioned rural mail carriers. Although she is 50 years old and small of stature, she sees that the mail "always goes through"—despite rain, snow, or, occasionally, ill health.

She was a "mailwoman" before she was a fully-licensed carrier. Mrs. Trefz substituted for her husband in 1921, and when he became ill in 1923 she sorted the mail and delivered it while he drove their automobile. From 1925 she had full charge of the route as her husband was too ill even to drive the car. Later, he died.

Her daily route now comprises 48½ miles. She is driving the fifth car she has used during her mail-carrying career, but she never has had an accident.

She said that when she began carrying the mail, transportation problems often made it difficult for her to get the mail through.

"I ran into snow drifts, walked over muddy roads to get to houses on my route, and shoveled my way out of snow-packed country lanes," she said.

"But I decided then and there I would get the mail to my people."

"Her people," the 171 families on her route, appreciate their dependable carrier. Sometimes, she makes special trips to get mail to a family.

When Mrs. Trefz took the examination for her job, 10 years ago, every family on her route signed a petition to the postoffice department requesting her appointment. Even the nine other applicants for the job asked that she have it, if possible.

During the Christmas season, Mrs. Trefz carries from 400 to 500 pieces of mail a day.

Sometimes children on her route call her "Mrs. Santa Claus."

The Christmas "rush" often necessitates special trips. In one instance, one family was awaiting anxiously a Christmas package. It arrived finally the day before the holiday, after Mrs. Trefz had completed her mail deliveries.

"I jumped into my car and drove several miles to deliver the gift," she said.

DISCOVERS TWO NEW T. B. CASES

Clinic Examines 23 Suspects, 21 Show Negative Tests.

Two new cases of tuberculosis have been discovered in Richland county, a report of the diagnostic chest clinic held last Friday at the General hospital under the direction of Dr. T. L. Bliss of Akron, showed today. Of the 23 suspects examined, two showed a positive test while 21 proved negative.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, said that the two new cases brings to 40 the total of number of new cases found in the county since Jan. 1. Of the 299 suspects examined at diagnostic clinics during the 11-month period, 259 have shown negative tests.

Hitler Is Threat to Civilization.

THE FEROCITY of attacks being made on minority groups in Germany by Hitler's Nazi hordes provides a horrifying spectacle in a world that has seemed to be advancing toward higher civilization.

Hitler's rise to power, coupled with his recent grab of Austria and dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, is an amazing example of what one man of that type can do in upsetting world progress.

While the Hitler campaign of terrorism has appeared to be directed more particularly against the Jewish people in Germany, it will be noted that similar barbaric treatment is also being accorded Catholics, and any minorities out of accord with the Nazi program of intolerance and unleashed brutality.

In the United States, a nation built on the principles of equality in rights and privileges, it is difficult for people to understand how such conditions as now exist in Germany could have been brought about.

Here a minority group, however small, is protected in its religious freedom, as well as in its right to speak and print whatever it may choose, also to peaceably assemble and petition the government for redress of grievances.

Here, too, the people are permitted to exercise freedom of the ballot in the choice of officials and in decisions as to policies of government, with the expressed wishes of the majority serving to guide chosen representatives but with the rights of law abiding minorities always safeguarded by the Constitution of the United States.

Compare these conditions with what is now transpiring in Germany, in Italy and in Russia, and you have a clearer idea of the difference between a democracy and a dictatorship, whether Nazi, Fascist or Communist.

While it may be contended that Germany's internal affairs are her own business, it cannot be avoided that a wave of protest comes from all parts of the civilized world.

There is also a realization that, unless stopped, Hitler will soon go to even greater lengths in the fanatic madness that has marked his course.

High Cost of Parenthood.

REVELATION by Joan Blondell, movie star wife of Dick Powell, that their two children have cost $100,000 apiece, gives an idea of why some of the top-bracket salaries of movie stars run into big figures.

This total, Joan tells an interviewer, includes wages she lost while not working, and a good share also went to attending physicians and hospitals.

The actress does not complain. She thinks her two children are worth whatever they cost—and more. But she wonders whether the principle of "charging what the traffic will bear" isn't being carried too far in Hollywood—and possibly elsewhere.

While this may be an extreme case, it is quite apparent that costs of child-bearing have increased greatly within a single generation and that there has been a marked change from the old days in which a $10 fee to the family doctor (sometimes not paid) met the cost of arrival of a new baby in the home.

Now there is the considerable item of hospital cost, with increasing tendency to engage an obstetrician and a pediatrician to give specialized attention to mother and baby, in addition to a family physician to look after the family health in a general way.

But it should also be kept in mind that modern methods have brought great reduction in infant mortality and that now very few mothers die in childbirth, as was common in earlier times.

It would be unfortunate, though, for maternity costs to reach a point at which only the extremely poor and the extremely rich can afford to have children.

Women Workers Needed.

THE unemployment census, directed by John D. Biggers a year ago, disclosed that women formed a larger part of those employed than they did in 1930. It was immediately reasoned by many people that women were crowding men out of jobs, and that if many of them withdrew from gainful employment there would be more work available for idle men.

The National Industrial Conference board, as a result of a study made by its economic research division, says that conclusion is false. Actually it found, "the percentage of male workers in the total population has been approximately the same since 1870. The increase in the number of women workers has, therefore, not been at the cost of men. It has been an increase in the total labor force." Furthermore: "In the years up to 1930 it would have been impossible to maintain the level of industrial production without female employes." Women workers really helped to sustain employment for men.

It is probably true that if more unemployed men returned to paying employment there would be fewer women either working or seeking work. But speaking in general, this would not be because the two groups compete for the same jobs.

Texas Inauguration.

THERE will be no inaugural ball in Texas when the new governor enters office next January. W. Lee O'Daniel, just elected to that office, says he'd "feel out of place at such a thing."

There will be celebrating, however, and on a grand scale. There is to be a "citizens' homecoming," held in the university stadium, with 75,000 state patriots in the seats and thousands more milling around on foot. The governor-elect says everybody in Texas is invited to come and shake their "servant's" hand.

Before the hand-shaking begins, the governor will arrive on top of the truck in which he did his campaigning, and accompanied by the hillbilly band. They'll probably play the familiar hymns that folk like to sing.

It promises to be quite an occasion, and even more fun for voters than the conventional ball.

Now that automobiles have reached such a high degree of perfection—can't something be done to improve the drivers?

Watching Trends

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON — Out of its troubles the department of agriculture is shaping its A-1 arguments against the demand for the domestic allotment plan rising from the farm belt.

One of the tasks the department undertook when it began controlling wheat production was to market the surplus abroad. This year the exportable surplus was estimated at 100,000,000 bushels, or roughly one-tenth of the supply.

In normal years this amount would have slid into the world market without much ado, but a half dozen wheat exporting countries have surpluses this year while the usual heavy buyers in Europe are buying more bombs and less wheat.

* * *

Had to Match Subsidies.

OTHER wheat countries, including Canada, began subsidizing the export of some of its wheat and the department of agriculture had to follow suit if it expected to move the 100,000,000 bushels.

(Special note: Secretary Wallace's proposed two-price system by which subsidy payments would be used to make prices lower for poor Americans instead of poor foreigners, doesn't apply so well to wheat. The department believes the country now is eating about all the wheat it cares for and a subsidy would not make it eat more.)

The department's original plan was to have the exportable surplus moved by January, so it would be out of the way of the huge Argentine and Australian crops. The countries harvest in January, since they are on the other end of the world.

* * *

Still Have Our Surplus.

TO DATE the department has been able to market only about 15,000,000 bushels of wheat after three months of effort. Half the time is gone and not more than a sixth of the exportable wheat.

The department has been offering exporters a subsidy reported to be 19 cents a bushel but they have insisted that the world will not take the wheat unless a 30-cent subsidy is paid. That would be equal almost to half of the present market price of wheat.

Now the department, in spite of the demands of the exporters, is convinced that 19 cents a bushel is quite a bonus, even though Rumania, as an instance, is reported to be paying 26 cents. Since the 19 cent subsidy won't move the crop, the department feels it has a good argument against advocates of the domestic allotment system which involves a forced sale abroad of the surplus.

The domestic allotment plan, it will be recalled, provides that the amount of wheat this country consumes and saves for reserve will be left in the market but all surplus will be set aside for export.

* * *

To Subsidize or Turn?

ADVOCATES of the plan urge that with the 10 per cent of exportable surplus taken off the market, the domestic price would automatically seek a higher price level. The surplus, sold abroad even at a lower price, might bring the total income up to a level comparable with other industry.

Now, the department feels it has fairly well established that the world will not take much U. S. surplus even with a 19 cent subsidy, when other nations are willing to match it subsidy for subsidy. Thus, the department argues, if the country can't eat the surplus nor sell it abroad at a fair price, it should not grow it.

Whether the farm belt will accept this situation as an argument against domestic allotment and in favor of the present crop control plan is something the department won't even guess until the temper of the new congress is better known.

Believe Riefenstahl Nazi Envoy

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The campaign to chase Fraulein Reifenstahl back to her native Germany on the ground that she's a visitor in the United States in reality to do Naz missionary work and only nominally as a film actress and director, already is being quite energetically pushed in the Labor Department, which will have to deport her if anyone does.

Riefenstahl

Although the fraulein denies being engaged to marry Herr Hitler or that she even is very well acquainted with him, I suppose she is a Nazi. That that alone is a sufficient legal reason to ship her home again, unless it actually is established that she is here to do some propagandizing, isn't so certain. The Labor Department seems to doubt it.

However, Chairman Dies of the house of representatives committee on investigation on the foreign "isms" intimates that the department is most improperly tolerant of them.

Personally I think that Nazi-ism is something of a nuisance in this country. I never could get much disturbed over Communism because I don't believe there is enough of it in our midst to worry about. And while we have a good many Italians, I don't hear Fascism preached noticeably. But the Nazis with their "bunds" and things, are rather noisy.

Nazi-ism? Fascism? Communism?

If I had to live in a Nazi, a Fascist or a Communistic country, I'd pick none of them, but I'd choose Communism ahead of Fascism and Fascism ahead of Nazi-ism.

Germany was a comparatively civilized country before the World war. Under Nazi-ism, it's retrograded to the most impossible. Italy, under Fascism is next to the most impossible. For awhile, though bad, it wasn't as bad as Hitler has made Germany. Now it's getting worse, to be sure, but even yet it hasn't caught up with Germany.

For Russia some allowances ought to be made.

Before the revolution it had the worst government on earth—worse than Turkey's in the day of Abdul the Damned. Communism isn't any worse than that was. Maybe it's a little better. Russia has improved a trifle: at least it's 50-50 with the Czarist regime.

Germany is 75 per cent worse than in the Hohenzollern period, and Italy 50 per cent worse than in pre-war days.

Oh yes, if I had to live in Russia I'd expect to be purged, but I'd a trifle rather be purged by Stalin than by Mussolini or, especially, by Hitler—with that toothbrush mustache of his.

I wouldn't want, any more, to live in England or France. They've lost their nerve. Nor would I want to live in Belgium, Holland or the Scandinavias. They still are democratic all right, but they're little, and any minute are likely to have their liberties wiped out, like Czechoslovakia's.

Rampancy of the "Antis."

There's a modicum of justification for the fears expressed by such folk as Congressman Dies of the "antis" and "ism-omatics."

Away before my era we had the original Ku Klux. That was sectional, and explainable. Then we had the Know-Nothings, manly anti-Catholic. Next we had the American Protective association—also ridiculously anti-Catholic. Then the rejuvenated Klux—anti-Catholic, anti-Jewish, anti-everything almost.

In short, we Americans have an "anti" complex.

Anti-intolerance would be all to the good.

Being anti-Nazi myself, I have considerable sympathy with it, as to Nazis.

I don't think it should go to extremes, however, as to groups I'm not afraid of.

I like Catholics and Jews, I'm not afraid of Communists and Fascists, but I do dislike Nazis. Still, even against them, I wouldn't overdo things. I'm not especially exicted over Fraulein Riefenstahl.

Timely Editorial

Prepare for Winter.

Now is the time to get ready for winter driving.

See that the car is in condition. A limping automobile is dangerous enough in the summer, but on slippery roads and when zero temperatures frost windshields and quick stops are necessary because of bad roads, everything about the car must be working at its best.

Also it is good practice for those who have been a bit careless and daring during the summer to shift mental gears about this time of year. When winter comes, only the alert and careful have any business handling an automobile.

And don't wait for the bad weather before making preparations. In mid-November anything in the weather program is subject to change without notice. The start of the trip may be on a fine, sunny day, and the finish may be in a blinding snowstorm with ice on all the roads. Now is the time to prepare for the perils of winter driving.—Detroit News.

Health Advice

Reflexes In Auto Accidents.

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE MACHINE threatens to dominate all aspects of human life. Strong is the man today whose spiritual life is free from the machine's tyrannies. Lewis Mumford's remarkable books, "Technics and Civilization" and "The Culture of Cities" indicate how much the machine has crowded out humanism, but he holds out a hope that we can break through to peace and control.

Little things count in this and I am impressed with the article by Dr. Howard B. Fabing, of Cincinnati, who analyzes the mental condition of us poor oafs at the wheel of a car in the awful presence of traffic lights (Journal of the American Medical Association September 1938). Adoption of his suggestions may prevent a proportion of our annual automobile accident toll, and certainly it will make drivers more comfortable.

Conditioned Reflex.

The motor car driver when confronted by a traffic light, responds to a conditioned reflex. If he sees the red light, he has an inhibitory instinct which causes him to step down on the brake and release the clutch. If the light is green he has an excitatory (go ahead) reflex which makes him release the brake and the clutch and step on the accelerator.

But they do not always control him absolutely because he may come into a traffic corner and see the traffic light suddenly. If it is red, he does not know how long it has been on and hopes it may go off soon so that he may proceed. Or vice versa, so his reflexes may get mixed up. The intervening yellow light does no always help out because on many signals it does not flash between red and green.

Pavlov, the Russian physiologist, who first described conditioned reflexes, described this quick succession of antagonistic conditioned reflexes and confusion in visual conditioning stimuli in the dog and very significantly referred to times when "collision" phenomena occurred.

If a reflex which brings expectation of food is established in a dog, and then another which means no food and then both these stimuli are applied in rapid succession, the animal becomes very nervous and excitable and irritable.

Anxiety Neurosis."

The same thing happens to a motorist at times. He may get "collision" phenomena, and, as Dr. Fabing says, "an anxiety neurosis in miniature" occurs. When several experiences of this kind follow one on another in succession, it produces "a conscious restless anxiety exhaustion." Every driver must have experienced this.

To overcome some of this, there are better traffic lights than those commonly used available. Dr. Fabing recommends ,Schubert's which is a circular glass panel, divided into four sections—red, green and two yellows, on which a hand, similar to a clock's hand, indicates how much of red or green light is left, and this is calculated to compose the motorist's reactions.

A Farmer's Diary

A Flock of Sheep.

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I DROVE southwest along our winding graveled road about an hour after sunup, when suddenly I came upon a scene worthy of a Maxwell Parrish or a Corot.

A flock of sheep was grazing along a draw, cropping closely the wet, tender grass, after the rain in the night. They had scattered out, as sheep do when contented and unafraid, in green pastures. Their heads were toward the road, and as I passed, several looked up mildly wondering, and followed me with their eyes, then went back to eating.

Behind them, the sun peeped above the trees, touched the white wool, newly washed by rain, and outlined the rounded back of each gentle animal with an aura of misty light. Ahead of them, long shadows moved—slow serene shadows, melting into the dewy greenness of the pasture slope. A brook trickled over rocks at the bottom of the draw. The sky was vivid blue, piled with white clouds. The wind tossed the bare tops of tall, dark trees on the hills behind, but did not enter this secluded nook.

For only an instant I glimpsed this bit of pastoral beauty—a modern car goes too fast, too fast—but the memory of that quiet, peaceful scene was unforgettable. It clung, and puzzled me. I have often passed flocks of sheep before, and never looked upon them with such keen delight. Why, I reflected, was that scene so different and so beautiful? Then, reliving the experience once more, I came upon the truth.

It had been the light. I had seen that flock of sheep at the one time when the morning sun, reflecting from their whited wool, seemed to emanate from the animals themselves, and glorified the entire flock.

Listen, World!

Mind and Spirit Must Also Grow.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DO YOU LIKE to study house plans? Do you get a kick out of seeing how one room leads to another . . . tracing winding halls, the clever crannies and curious niches that make a modern home so delightful? Of course you do—it's an all-round, favorite indoor sport.

Then suppose you could see the floor plan of your own character . . . follow the WHY and WHITHER of your own mysterious mental compartments . . . uncover those secret runways in your own spirit which have tricked and trapped you so often—how eagerly you'd seize a chance like that! For that would be more than merely amusing—it would be the help you've needed desperately. At last you'd be able to understand the weaknesses that have betrayed you . . . the fear that has baffled you . . . the shame that has been a bitter burden for so long. At a glance you'd see yourself as you really are . . . if only you could have that glance!

You can!

For years a remarkable man has been mapping just such floor plans of life . . . plans that reveal and explain every twist and turn of our human nature. His name is David Seabury. We've talked about his books often in this column—"Help Yourself to Happiness," "How to Worry Successfully," "What Makes Us Seem So Queer," and many more. Now Whittlesey House (McGraw-Hill Book Company) has published his latest, and in some ways, finest work—"Adventures In Self-Discovery." Exciting title, isn't it? Expresses exactly what you, yourself, would like to do—DISCOVER YOURSELF. Well, why not? Here are all the answers. Somewhere within these 307 pages YOU live . . . somewhere there's the reasonable solution for your every need and desire.

For instance—you've often wondered what it's all about, this queer business we call life. This constant struggle and strain—Why aren't you ever content? Why must you always be reaching out for more, no matter how much you've already accomplished?

"BECAUSE YOU WERE BORN UNFINISHED!" says David Seabury, "AND YOUR WHOLE LIFE WILL BE ONE LONG EFFORT TO COMPLETE YOURSELF."

"We are not whole . . . The Creator only begins a man in His biological laboratory . . . We come into life as partial beings, unformed in many ways, often inadequate for the struggle . . . We seek by the way we live and what we do to repair this feeling of incompleteness of ourselves We need to create in order to assuage our feeling of being fragmentary personalities."

That statement startles you, doesn't it? You are accustomed to thinking of your body being born incomplete. You accept, without question, the fact that a baby must grow teeth, hair, develop nerves, muscles—But you had never thought of your spirit in just that way—NEVER REALIZED THAT SOULS AS WELL AS JAWS MUST GO THROUGH A TEETHING PERIOD!

Yet how much easier it is to understand life—Your own and everyone's else—when you think of it in that way. What a different understanding you have of your own restlessness and the Other Fellow's revolts! Hitherto you've thought that rebellious people should be punished as you, yourself, have been punished . . .

BUT SHOULD GROWTH BE PUNISHED? IS GROWTH A CRIME?

All these struggles and protests—these experiments—these mystifying uprisings and even stranger surrenders—it's all a part of the process of growth. But Society—still savagely ignorant and stupid—sees in it only mischief and menace. Instead of praising and encouraging the questioning child, the experimenting man, the rebellious woman, we view them with suspicion, anger or downright fear. Instead of saying—"GO ON ASKING! GO ON REACHING! GO ON WANTING! we thunder warnings or call for cops.

So the struggle for completion turns IN instead of OUT . . . is REPRESSED instead of EXPRESSED . . . becomes a source of INFECTION instead of INSPIRATION. Why is a neurotic? That's why.

Study the floor plan of your life. Trace out the dark, unaired rooms where desire lies rotting . . . the sealed runways which have become cul de sacs BECAUSE SOCIETY DID NOT UNDERSTAND THAT THE SOUL MUST COMPLETE ITSELF AS WELL AS THE BODY.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Prizefighters are sentimental. They won't admit it but all of them like to weep occasionally for Auld Lang Syne. You never saw one in your life that didn't autograph his pictures "To My Pal—I Hope You Get All the Breaks." Dempsey is no exception. Jack Sharkey has been known to burst into tears over matters emotionally trivial. Jess Willard should have been a painter or a builder of bridges. He was always a dreamer. Jim Braddock can talk out the side of his mouth in the most elegant gas house manner, but he is incurably romantic.

I was thinking of this and watching those men, all those exfighters and managers and sports writers and touts and the others who are always to be found around pugilistic rendezvous, as they stood three deep before the bar in that tavern on Eighth avenue—that tavern run by the once great Mickey Walker who was known as the Toy Bulldog.

* * *

IT WAS about five in the afternoon, and New York in November is dark at that hour. The tavern was a blaze of light. You couldn't hear yourself think but you couldn't pick up any words at that moment. There was too much commotion for that, too much conversation. But you could sit back at your table and look at the vast ocean of portraits on the walls—portraits of every fighter who ever gained any prominence down through the years. And in the center was that picture which to me has always been the most marvelous study of a fighter ever taken.

It was Dempsey, but a young, lean Dempsey of 20 years ago, clad in white trunks, hair close-cropped, a rock-fisted, untamed young giant who might have just stepped down from Olympus—that's what he looked like.

You've seen this picture. You've seen it on the covers of magazines, and on the walls of sports arenas, and on tavern walls from here to the Golden Gate and back. And in it he seems almost too real. You half expect him to step down from the wall and maybe sock you or shake your hand, but he doesn't. And then you notice the legend he has written on it in his close, almost effeminate hand: "To My Pal Mickey—Good Luck Always—Jack Dempsey."

Nearby is a picture of Bennie Leonard, and on it is written, "To My Pal Mickey." Jimmy McLarnin, Carnera, Paulino, Schmeling, thousands of others of their pugilistic brethren are there and all of them have written "To My Pal," or its equivalent.

* * *

IT'S a nice gesture. The gang likes it. Somebody points to a picture of Joe Gans and says, "Don't you remember when—?" The next guy says, "That was when he missed with that left hook" . . . and it goes like that for hours, and for always.

As I say, they were three deep at the bar, but it was no special occasion . . . Just the usual get together in Mickey's tavern. The talk was thick but the smoke was thicker than that. As my waiter brought me a beer somebody put a nickel in the phonograph and it started to play Tiger Rag. The waiter shook his head. "What's the matter? Don't you like Tiger Rag?"

He shook his head again. "They're always playing them fast tunes," he said. "I like 'em slow and romantic. Them romantic tunes make me sad."

AFRAID TO MARRY + + +

By HELEN WELSHIMER

(Copyright, 1938)

CHAPTER 46

Judy gave herself to the merrymaking the night of Marjorie's marriage to Bob. When she tumbled into bed at 4 o'clock, she was too sleepy to think. She fell asleep immediately.

She did not set the alarm clock. The day was Saturday so the studio would not need her.

She slept until early afternoon, completely exhausted by the emotional tension of the last few weeks. She dreamed she was walking down a long road and Ronald was somewhere far ahead. She called, but he could not hear her. She ran, but she could not reach him. She wakened, then, wondering why she felt so bewildered and lost.

The cyclorama of the last few days came back.

It was raining, a furious, lashing rain, that melted the snow and hurled its wet streamers through the windows, soaking the draperies. Cold air rushed through the windows, too. The living room looked tired and gray and cheerless.

She closed the windows, turned up the heat, lighted a lamp or two to add a touch of warmth and cheer. Then she went into the bathroom and relaxed in a hot bath. A cool shower followed. By the time she was dressed she felt vital, awake again.

She decided to put on her raincoat and brave the storm. It was not far to the cafeteria. There would be lights and people, and she didn't want to be alone.

She bought a paper and a new magazine at a news counter that she passed. The wind whipped her skirts around her legs. The white raincoat billowed and swooped in the drenched air. She clutched her hat.

She lowered her umbrella. It was too fragile to combat such a storm. She herself could, though. She gloried in it. Here was something tangible to fight.

She sat down to orange juice, hot rolls and coffee at a white-topped table in a corner of the big cafeteria. She spread out the paper and scanned its news as she sipped the fruit juice. Suddenly the glass wobbled in her hand, and the stream of orange liquid made a thin line across the smooth table.

Ronald's name was jumping up at her.

She put down the glass and gave her whole attention to the news.

"Birrell Exonerated in Jury Bribing Charge."

He was free! He would not go away! His resignation would not be accepted!

But when had the miracle happened? Who had done it?

She scanned the brief paragraphs. Ronald had been the victim of a crank. The man who gave the bribes had been identified by the guilty jurors. Another who had refused the bribe spotted him, too. The man — the man was Gregg Sterling!

So Sterling had been the guilty party, just as she and Ronald had dared to believe. She wondered how his cruel attempt to injure had been uncovered. She would not know until she saw Ronald.

Another note struck its key, clear and sharp, in the medley of thoughts that played together in her curious mind. Ronald had kept his promise to Abbey. He had not let any hint of her part in this scandal creep into the news. Ronald was a gentleman. He would protect any woman, of course, she reminded herself. But Abbey's had been recalled to her mind and she saw the cynical smile on the girl's lips, heard her brittle, mocking laughter.

Judy finished the rolls and coffee and went home, scarcely noticing the storm this time. The rooms were warmer now. She had an afternoon with nothing to do. Tonight she was to be a dinner guest at some old friends. She would bake a pie!

Judy had liked to cook during the school years when cooking had been a requirement at the boarding schools. She had not made a pie for a long time. What she would do with it when it was baked she did not know.

She examined the contents of the refrigerator. She drank a glass of ice cold milk while she took stock. She had a bountiful supply of lemons. She would bake a lemon meringue pie.

So when her doorbell rang, an hour later, she was watching the oven, waiting for the pie to turn the proper golden brown.

One eye on the open oven door, she answered the buzzer and spoke through the tube. Since the night of the mysterious call of the bootlegger—mysterious no longer, she realized—she had done that.

"Are you busy, Judy?" That was Ronald. "May I come up for a little while?"

She was in the hall to greet him, both hands extended. His face was so young and eager and glad that she felt years older, like a sister or mother who drew from deeper wiser understanding. She knew that it was a ridiculous attitude. There were moments when she felt like a school girl around him.

The story Ronald told was simple and direct.

"The blackmailer by profession had a bad enough grudge against Sterling at the beginning. Then, when he discovered it was the connection with the letters Abbey had written that led to his discovery on the other charges, he was like an animal. So he talked.

"He knew that Sterling was bitter against me. The man had dropped a few hints that he knew something about the blackmailing. He said too much. When the police heard about it they rounded up Sterling and the man confessed. Owned up to it all."

"And you are cleared!"

"Cleared!"

She wanted to say something shining, glorious, worthy. Instead she caught her breath. "My pie!"

They raced to the kitchen. The edges were beginning to turn a dark brown. Judy swept the pie from the oven and put it in an open window to cool.

Ronald looked at it, then at her.

"You baked it?"

"Of course, nut! How else would it get in the oven?"

"But it looks good! It looks darn good!"

Judy sat down on a high stool and laughed.

"Didn't you know I could cook?"

"Hardly! Where did you learn useful things?" Still he didn't believe her.

"At school. I can sew, too, and knit, and dust and play the piano —". She wiped her eyes and tried to stop laughing.

"Judy, that's glorious," Ronald was saying, almost reverently.

In the end Judy did not go to her dinner party. She telephoned and made her excuses. It was a small party, so it made no particular difference. The table was not set for an even number of men and women.

She and Ronald had the pie for dinner. They had a steak with mushrooms, great, fluffy baked potatoes, a salad and a soup and coffee. They sat at the gate-legged table in front of the fire. Ronald had braved the storm for some more wood.

It was warm and intimate and happy. They were safe against the night, the rain, all threats. Life could not harm two people who shared a roof, Judy was thinking.

When Ronald stood up to leave, she started. For a moment she had almost forgotten this was a borrowed hour, nothing more.

THE JUNIOR RED CROSS

This is another in a series of articles on the varied activities of the Red Cross, written by the chairman of the activity divisions.

* * *

By W. L. MILLER
Superintendent of Schools.

The American Junior Red Cross, an organization composed of eighteen million boys and girls throughout the world, has for its pledge of service:

"We believe in service for others, health in mind and body, to fit us for better service in world-wide friendship. For this reason, we are joining the Junior Red Cross. We will help to make its work successful in our schools and community and will work together with the Junior everywhere, in our own and other lands."

The Junior Red Cross was organized during the World war when school children sought an opportunity to enlist in the service of their nation. Grouped by schools, public, private and parochial, they have aided in community projects, organized welfare programs and engaged in making gifts for children, veterans and aged in hospitals. Through the international Junior Red Cross, they exchange correspondence and portfolios with children of other nations, using the material for school room study, thus promoting goodwill and understanding. The Richland County Junior Red Cross has an enrollment of 11,485 pupils.

During the past three years, this organization has provided funds for the purchase of 134 pairs of glasses for children with defective vision, made thousands of holiday favors for hospitalized veterans and patients in local hospitals, menu covers for service men on board ships at Christmas time, knitted afghans for ex-service men in tubercular hospitals and donated toys and games for children in emergency camps in times of disaster.

Other projects of Junior Red Cross in the various schools has been the finger-printing of school children for personal identification purposes. The establishment of first aid, life-saving, home hygiene and care of sick classes, and the promotion of safety in the home, school and on the farm and highway. The Junior Red Cross is the American Red Cross in the school and it serves in the promotion of good health, the development of altruistic tendencies in children, the practice of good citizenship and the promotion of international friendliness.

Membership in the Junior Red Cross promotes, in the life of the young people of our nation, the ideals of service to his fellowmen and a conception of goodwill and friendship to boys and girls of other nations. In promoting these ideals, the Junior Red Cross is one of the most helpful organizations in the schools of the nation.

"Waterless Cooking for Better Health."

The new simmer-set top burners on the Tappan Range give you a constant low flame for "waterless" cooking. You can prepare vegetables in this modern manner which retains their health-giving vitamins. And, too, the new smokeless broilers seal juicy flavor into steaks and chops, make these servings more popular than ever.

All these advantages are yours at even greater economy, because of the new efficiency of gas range construction. See the new Tappan gas ranges at The Mansfield News-Journal Cooking School. One glimpse will convince you that they are better looking as well as built for better cooking.
